Death Car for Three—Mystery shrouds the strange deaths of James and John Keefe, 24 and 17, and Ruth Place, 16, all of Waltham, as Grace Saunders, 18, told the story of how they had run out of gasoline and parked their car in a lane off Concord turnpike in Lexington. In Cambridge City Hospital, she is recovering.

Reds Report British Talk Separate Peace

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Jan. 17 (AP)—Pravda published a Cairo report today that two English officials had conferred secretly with German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop to find terms for a separate peace with Germany, and added:

"It is understood the meeting did not remain without results."

The 10-line dispatch was published at the top of Pravda's foreign news page under the heading, "Rumors From Cairo."

Text of the dispatch:

"CAIRO, Jan. 12 (By special correspondent of Pravda)—According to information from reliable Greek and Yugoslav sources, a secret meeting took place recently in one of the seacoast cities of the Pyrenees peninsula between two English officials and Von Ribbentrop.

"The meeting had the aim of finding out the conditions of a separate peace with the Germans. It is understood the meeting did not remain without results."

(Tass broadcast the report, saying the meeting was in a "coastal town on the Iberian peninsula." This was picked up by the Soviet monitor in London from a Moscow long-wave telegraph transmission. It was not included in the usual news voice broadcasts.)

RUSSIANS SURPRISED

The original Soviet - British agreement on joint war-time action against Germany and their later 20-year alliance both provided that neither side would make a separate peace.

Pravda's dispatch amounted to an accusation that Britain, at least, was sounding out Germany on the possibility of a separate peace.

The concluding sentence that the secret parley did not remain without results, carried for Russians the positive sense that it had at least partial success.

The dispatch stirred intense interest and surprise among the Russian public, but met with incredulity in Allied countries.

There were two interesting points about the dispatch:

1—Although it appeared in the organ of the Communist party it was not official and did not even bear the weight of a dispatch of the official news agency, Tass,

Red Story Stirs Britain, U. S.

British reaction to the Pravda peace-rumor story today was to reiterate the repeated British declaration that no peace would be negotiated with the Germans without full accord of all the Allies, including the Russians and Americans.

A British spokesman whose name cannot be used was inclined to regard the story lightly, raising the question that if it originated in Cairo, why was it not circulated by British and American news agencies as well as Pravda? He expressed doubt that any such report passed the Cairo censorship.

In Washington, the first reaction of officials was frank amazement that such a peace report should have been published in a paper which usually speaks with such Soviet authority as Pravda. In a less authoritative publication the report would have received little or no attention.

Concern ran less to any possibility of truth in the report, since the British have committed themselves on many occasions against a separate peace, than it did to the Russian purpose in giving the report circulation.

SOVIETS POINT FOR LATVIA IN BIG NEW PUSH

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—A powerful new Soviet offensive was sweeping toward the 70-mile distant Latvian border today, hurling the Germans back along a nine-mile front, while in Old Poland far to the south Red army spearheads were driving toward the big rail and highway junction of Rovno.

Asserting that the new drive to the north of Nevel already had swept up 40 localities and cut the important Novosokolniki railway below Lake Ilmen, Moscow also announced Gen. Vatutin's First Ukraine Army had killed 100,000 Germans and captured 7000 in three weeks of the massive offensive which has carried the Russians 55 miles inside Old Poland.

The Red army also forged ahead in White Russia, crossing the Ippa river to capture Novoselki, in the Pripet marshes, and reaching a point 47 miles from the Old Polish border in a drive toward Pinsk, about 100 miles away.

The Russians told of repulsing heavy tank and infantry counter-attacks in the Vinnitsa and Uman sectors to the south, killing 2000 Germans and destroying 136 tanks.

CLARK ARMY BATTLES FOR CASSINO RIVER

By WES GALLAGHER

ALGIERS HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 17 (AP)—Attacking along a 30-mile front, American and French troops of Gen. Clark's Fifth Army have reached the steep banks of the Rapido river which runs through Cassino, and have begun battering assaults on the Gustav defense line, main barricade to Rome, Allied headquarters announced today.

Previously, U. S. infantrymen had stormed and captured Mt. Trocchio, last high ground before Cassino, whose peak is but two miles from the town, and it was possible that they had thrust on down the slopes to Cassino.

The French of Gen. Juin also smashed through precipitous hills and mountains in the Apennines to reach the upper Rapido.

At Cardito and Mt. Croce, the French were 9 to 10 miles north of Cassino and only slightly east. Lower down the line, however, where they had reached to within two miles of the mountain village of Sant Elia they were but five miles from Cassino.

The Rapido's high banks have been converted by the Germans into one of the main features of their Gustav line. It has been studded with guns, weapon pits, dugouts and traps, as have the hills and rocky ledges behind it.

The air war flared with increasing violence. At Villaorba in southwest Italy, while Liberators smashed at Osoppo airdrome in northern Italy and Zara harbor in Yugoslavia. At Zara 140 hits were scored in the target area.

Snow and rain squalls swept the mountain areas of Italy and on the Eighth Army front action was limited to a push along the Adriatic coast for a short distance by Canadians, and a brush between the Germans and an Indian patrol at San Eusania, four miles inland. There also was some artillery activity.

Allied Fliers Join With Reds?

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—A report came from the German-controlled Vichy radio today a new strategic bombing force is being built up in Russia in which British and American heavy bombers may join Soviet aircraft in attacking eastern German areas.

The report has received no Allied confirmation.

A dispatch from Stockholm said the German airplane manufacturing city of Brunswick "ceased to exist" after the RAF hit it with 2000 tons of bombs Friday night.

RAF Spitfires and Typhoons carried out offensive patrols over French territory yesterday and enemy raiders struck back last night at scattered points in England, causing an alert in London. One raider was destroyed.

Eisenhower Talks

Gen. Bradley To Lead AEF

By LEWIS HAWKINS

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The pre-invasion task in Britain already is far advanced, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower disclosed today, even as Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson hinted at new blows in the Mediterranean, possibly into southern France.

This picture of Allied might menacing Hitler from the west and south as well as the east was thrown into sharper focus with announcement that Lieut.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley, veteran of Tunisian has become senior American general under Eisenhower in this theater.

Eisenhower, in his first press conference as western invasion commander-in-chief, warmly praised naval, air, supply and other forces for "the work that has been done in advance of my coming," and lauded infantrymen in the United Kingdom who are getting themselves ready and toughened for any job that lies ahead."

Wilson, the new Mediterranean commander-in-chief, in his first press meeting at Allied headquarters in Algiers, declared his front extends from the Maritsa river in the Balkans to the Pyrenees, and "we've got to hit home wherever we see the opportunity. If we sa wan opportunity for going into southern France we should do so."

BRADLEY HEADS A. E. F.

He added he would confer today with French Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

"With luck," Wilson said, "the Allies will win the war in Europe this year, but whether we'll finish it this year is another thing."

Bradley's appointment stirred prompt speculation he would be the invasion commander for all U. S. ground froces, as Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery heads the British army group, but there was no official confirmation. Bradley commanded the Second Corps in Tunisia.

Making it clear that preparations were not just starting with his arrival, Eisenhower said:

Gen. Eisenhower Gen. Bradley

"I hail the good work of the naval forces, particularly recently when their nailed the Scharnhorst and got those three destroyers in the Bay of Biscay. These were simply dramatic moments—the grand work the navies have been doing is evidenced by all the troops brought to England safely.

PRAISES AID RAIDS

"We salute the grand work of the air forces—what they have done by pounding Germany, reducing her military potential and at great risk to themselves and with absolute courage.

"It's a wonderful story—even those parts of the effort that have not been publicized. We should not overlook the good work of base supply nor the fine infantry training and preparing out on the cold moors and on the countryside in mud and rain."

Eisenhower, rudy and healthy-looking, said "faundamentally public opinion wins wars," and asked the frankest and fullest possible reporting of operations in this theater.

"I take it you are just as anxious as I am to win this war and let it be done so we can all go fighting," he said.

Yanks and Aussies Score Big Victories

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Jan. 17 (AP)—American Marines, in what some of them termed the bloodiest battle of the Southwest Pacific, have captured Hill 660 to dominate the Borgan bay area of Western New Britain, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Australians kept pace by sweeping on through Sio, on New Guinea's northeast coast and advancing three miles farther, clearing more of the coast preparatory, perhaps, for a big Allied push against Madang, farther northwest.

Allied bombers joined the victory parade with a heavy blow at Japanese shipping in the strong enemy base at Rabaul, northeast New Britain.

Navy planes shot down 29 of 60 to 70 Japanese fighters at a cost of two bombers and eight fighters, raising the enemy's loss in planes at Rabaul alone to at least 124 since Jan. 1. Four pilots of the downed Allied aircraft were saved.

Only 50 miles of sea separate Western New Britain from New Guinea's Huon peninsula, where the Australian ground forces occupied Sio. This occupation, together with the expanding American hold on Saidor, farther up the coast, opens the way for the next drive—against the big Japanese shipping base at Madang, 125 airline miles from Sio.

What Boys Tell Austen Lake

By AUSTEN LAKE

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (By Transport Plane)—The life of an itinerant war correspondent is full of unexpected twists. Only yesterday this observer was orphaned in a dismal, fog-shrouded town with little prospect of getting transportation to the outlying troop centers.

He was hog-tied by red tape. He was barned up in a medieval hotel. His mental attitude was summed up in the litle word "S%&°cAS."

Yet today, as though by magic, he is miles away, in the heart of a U. S. troop concentration. The skies are blue again and the sun is smiling. And—buhleeve it or not—he is the house guest of a major-general of a U. S. division in "a manor house where, as he writes, he can overlook horticultural sweeps of lawn and artfully barbered wildwood that might have been dreamed up in an architect's watercolor sketch.

Not that I gloat over that! It's the way war's dice roll. That it happened is because Lieut.-Col. Richards Vidmer, the former New York sport columnist (censored), a (censored) chum of the general. So the two-star C. O. adopted me and took baggage and all in his car.

It is only temporary, and I wouldn't want it to be otherwise. For this is the velvet side of war, and not the rugged, blue-denim side which I came to report—that raw, masculine life of the New England soldier, or the men who, among their regional fellows, form our national muscle and knuckles.

A Medford Chef

Tomorrow we eat Spam, but today we feed on the top of the round—and I might add that, though mention of the general's name is restricted by military rule, his cook is Corp. Guy Quidene of 89 Bowdoin st., Medford, an ex-chef at the Kenmore Hotel, who transforms hydrated egg powder into as fluffy an omelet as any your Aunt Minnie made, fresh from the hen.

Tomorrow we'll slog in ankle-deep goo. But today I ride in one of the general's jeeps, and chaperoned by one of the general's aides—and I might mention that the driver is Pfc. Bernard E. Patton of 69 Doyle ave., Providence, who uster chauffeur for Mayor Roberts.

And the aide is a young officer from Illinois (Capt. Whitehead), though it might just as well have been another of the staff, Lieut. Jack Shea of Bryant st., Salem, the son of the late golf pro at Kernwood and former desk man for the Boston Herald.

We jeeped southward over a ribbon of winding road that led over humpbacked hills, brown with winter heather, and spotted by budding gorse. The distances between towns are short compared to our New England meeasure, and the U. S. bases are nestled in every populated place—and some, like the divisional hospital, (a geometrically arranged series of brick hutments) in what were once open fields.

There is a Boston nurse there—a brunette 2d "looie" named Elinor B. Sherman of 78 Morningside rd., Needham, who heads the physiotherapy division and bakes away the soldiers' miseries. Her brother, James W., is treasurer of the Little, Brown publishing firm on Beacon Hill.

Or does a doughboy come down with galloping calluses between his toes or the many hoof ailments incurred by traipsing through the rain-soaked moors—vast, wind-swept tracts of unfertile land which hold moisture like a blotter—there is Sergt. Chiropodist Robert R. Dumont of 37 Fourth st., Lowell, who will pare off the proud flesh or bind up your bunions.

Drive on Wrong Side!

There are 750 beds in this hut-hospital, trim with gravel walks and soupy with muddy roads—about the size of . . . O, say Boston's Beth Israel! In one of the brick wards—and very snug and warm indeed, I found Pvt. Charles Campisano of 42 Sturtevant ave., Norwood, lolling around in a GI robe. But don't let his mother, Mrs. Veronica Campisano, fret. Chuck is only there with a minor comedown and ready for the outpatient department.

In England, traffic drives on the left side of the road, prompting the novice visitor to this clime to swallow his heart when approaching heavy truck convoys headed the other way. And, Brother—what I means is, these U. S. transport men really hit the ball on these narrow, curvalinear highways, where there usually isn't enough space left to insert a night club sandwich. And here is where a good share of New England's gasoline supply gets soaked up.

Girl's Weird Story Of 3 Dead in Auto

By PAUL WHELTON AND PAULINE WARREN

The more she told it today, the more weird became the rambling, incoherent story of 18-year-old Grace Saunders of Cambridge, who said she held lonely vigil for more than two days with the frozen bodies of her girl chum and two boy friends.

Recovering at Cambridge City Hospital from exhaustion and frostbitten feet, the young war worker, appearing two years younger than her age, took listeners through a veritable psychiatrist's dream in describing her experiences from last Thursday night till Sunday afternoon.

Throughout that time she was in an automobile, she said, with Ruth Place, 16, of Mayall rd.; James Keefe, 24, of Newton st., and his 17-year-old brother, John, all of Waltham.

But whether she was in the automobile all that time — or where she was part of the time until a motorist gave her a ride Sunday afternoon—no one else could say.

MYSTERY IN DEATHS

As autopsies were begun today on the three bodies Grace insisted that she had been conscious, except for fitful naps, during her ordeal.

She was clear on some points such as this, but apparently foggy on detail in others.

And her description of the car and the bodies, and statements of physicians regarding condition of the bodies, indicated death could not have resulted from carbon monoxide poisoning.

So far as it went, this was the sole survivor's story of the fateful ride that ended in death for three in a lonely, snow-crusted Lexington lane, with the car's tank empty of gasoline but the ignition switch closed:

On Thursday evening Grace met the Place girl, her steady chum, in Main st., Waltham, and shortly afterward they ran across the Keefe brothers and their car. Ruth knew them and when the brothers suggested a ride, the girls got in.

PARKED IN COUNTRY

They rode for some time, when the brothers decided to park. The countryside was unfamiliar to Grace but she and Ruth made no objection, she said.

They sat in the car and talked and smoked. Grace said there was no drinking and that if the boys had been drinking previously, she did not know it.

PATROLMAN JOHN RUSSELL EXAMINES DEATH CAR
Bodies of Waltham Brothers, Girl in Auto

However, at some time, somebody became ill inside the car, according to police who examined it.

The car became cold, the hour late. Grace said she thought it was about 1 o'clock Friday morning when she suggested they go home, as she had to be at work in the Newton Raytheon plant at 7:30 a. m., and her mother would be worried.

OTHERS REFUSED TO GO

But the brothers "fussed" over that suggestion, according to Grace, and because she did not wish to leave without Ruth and did not know where she was anyhow, Grace stayed on.

Without any related explanation, Grace said at this point that the car "ran out of gas," but whether it was before 1 o'clock or subsequent to her suggestion to go home she said she could not remember.

She said, however, that there was no heater in the car and the machine's interior was cold as she sat in the front seat with the elder of the brothers and Ruth sat in the back seat with John.

Sometime just before sunup Friday—she said she thought it must have been about 6:30—Grace felt she ought to try and get to work.

She got out of the car but one of the brothers followed—she wasn't sure which brother—and assertedly struck her on the head.

She displayed a bump on the left rear side of her head, an injury which hospital doctors did not think sufficiently important to enter on her case chart.

At any rate, she got back into the auto, and "we all went to sleep." Some time during Friday, Grace awoke and tried to wake Ruth, shaking her and calling to her. However, Ruth's eyes remained closed and she did not answer. Neither was there sign or motion from the brothers.

"Ruth, let's go home," Grace kept calling, according to her story. "We can get a hot bath and some clean clothes."

Lake Says Boys In Britain Want Mail Most of All

"Mail from home!" was the emphatic reply when Austen Lake, Boston American war correspondent, asked New England's own soldiers in Britain what they wanted most as he continued his tour of mammoth American training camps.

In Tuesday's Boston American, Lake describes the average soldier's day as the boys from New England prepare for the invasion day. He tells of their endless maneuvers and how they "bounce back" after hours of drudgery in the field to attend sports shows and other entertainments provided by American and British performers.

Lake talks with men from Roxbury, Roslindale, Somerville, Dorchester, Meriden, Ct., Worcester, Allston, and many other New England cities and towns. Read tomorrow's Boston American and learn the interesting comments these boys have for the folks back home.

Death Delays Vets' Pay Action in House for Day

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—Debate on the mustering-out pay bill for servicemen and women of World War II was set back today for 24 hours by the office of Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House, because of the death of Rep. William H. Wheat of Illinois.

Out of respect for the late legislator, the House met today only briefly and then adjourned until Tuesday.

At that time, according to the Rayburn office, the debate will open under rules of procedure to be set up by the House rules committee.

The long fight, backed by the Hearst newspapers and their millions of readers, will then be launched on the Administration bill, which provides only a maximum mustering-out pay of $300.

There was little doubt the amount would be increased generously, quite likely to a maximum of $700, or a year's pay for veterans serving more than nine months.

EARLY DECISION

An amendment bearing the signatures of 50 House leaders favors the $700 maximum and is scheduled for early decision. Spokesmen for this group are Reps. Thomas J. Lane of Massachusetts, William Lemke of North Dakota and Thomas Rolph of California.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, Republican minority leader, who made the original plea for mustering-out legislation on the floor of the House last month, went so far as to say that he believed that the amended bill would have a swift passage and would be on President Roosevelt's desk before the end of the week.

Martin openly credited the Hearst papers and their millions of readers with forcing the legislation to the floor of the House at this early date, despite the Administration opposition, which sidetracked passage of the bill before Christmas.

"By their tireless efforts in behalf of the forgotten veterans of this war, the Hearst papers of the United States and their readers have made possible the things we shall witness Monday," he said.

FINAL ENACTMENT

Martin said that he expected the amended bill to be referred to a conference committee of the House and Senate today and then be brought back shortly to both branches of Congress for final enactment. The Senate has already passed a bill providing for $500 maximum mustering-out pay, which was copied by the House Military Affairs committee, but with the payment reduced to $300.

That the bill was finally reported out to the floor was due to a revolt of a group within the military affairs committee, led by Cong. Philip Philbin, of Massachusetts,

As it will be presented to the House, the year's pay amendment provides three months' pay for veterans serving less than three months; six months' pay for more than three but less than six months' service; nine months' pay for more than six months but less than nine months' service; and a year's pay for more than nine months' service. It would authorize payment of $100 on discharge and monthly payments of $50 for the next 12 months in maximum cases.

Flu Costs F. D. 10 Pounds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (INS)—President Roosevelt had lost about 10 pounds in weight as the result of his recent attack of influuenza, the White House disclosed today.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said the President looked well and was feeling well despite this loss of weight and the weakening effects of the flue. Early said the President still is remaining in his private quarters on order of Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, his personal physician.

Rush Vet Hospital for Opening

Doctors, nurses and attendants, many of whom have been on the job since September, today hurried the finishing touches for next week's opening of the new $2,000,000 West Roxbury Veterans' Hospital, one of the most modern in the nation.

The new five-story structure, occupying a 30-acre tract overlooking Veterans of Foreign Wars pkwy., has beds for 320 patients. Future construction of wings to the main building will provide 500 additional beds.

Comfortable and cheery, the building has little resemblance to the old-fashioned hospital. Sunny ward rooms are modernistic and furnishings present a glamor that is reminiscent of the hospitals of Hollywood movies.

LARGE STAFF

The hospital medical staff includes 21 doctors, a chief nurse, four head nurses, 41 staff nurses, 50 attendants and 35 dietary workers.

The hospital staff is headed by Dr. Haughton W. Baxley, a veteran of 22 years in the veterans' administration. The surgical staff is headed by Dr. Stanley Livingston. Dr. Stephen J. Dalton of Brookline, chief medical officer of the veterans' bureau here, will be chief of medical service.

TRAY CARTS

Dr. Richard T. Leader, veterans' bureau medical director, heads the out-patient department. The chief nurse is Miss Katherine Christiansen.

The new hospital's ultra-modern kitchen, in charge of Miss Grace Covey, chief dietician, is the answer to a housewife's prayer. Equipped with the last word in electrical labor-saving devices, the kitchen is designed to produce 2500 meals a day.

Its many features include a continuous ice-cream making machine. Hot foods are conveyed from the kitchen to the wards in electrically-heated tray carts by special high-speed elevator service.

The hospital is equipped to handle all general types of medical and surgical cases.

Recreation facilities include a well-stocked library and comfortable lounge rooms, lounge chairs, card and game tables and smoking stands. There is also a modern theater-auditorium equipped with a motion picture projection booth and a large stage, complete with screen and scenery. It will seat 250.

OPA Releases School Food

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Children will get larger amounts of rationed foods in school meals, the Office of Price Administration said today in announcing revised ration allowances for schools serving meals meeting certain complete nutritional standards set by the Food Distribution Administration.

Schools now may apply to local war price and rationing boards for allowances of rationed foods on the basis of the number of persons served in January and February and the amount of food currently used, rather than on the amount of food used in December, 1942, the base month for institutional users' allotments.

Ship to Honor Hero O'Toole

Three Navy destroyer-escort vessels will be launched at Greater Boston shipyards next Saturday, one of them honoring the late Ensign John Albert O'Toole, former employe of the Record-American circulation staff, killed in action in the North African invasion.

Sponsor of the USS O'Toole will be the hero's widow, Mrs. Ruth A. O'Toole of Cameron st., Dorchester, who will officiate at ceremonies at the Boston Navy Yard.

The other vessels, both scheduled for launching at Bethlehem-Hingham shipyard, are named for an Illinois Navy hero of the battle of Midway, and a Michigan Marine Corps private killed at Tulagi.

CABBIES HURL GRAFT CHARGE, TALK OF STRIKE

Threatening to strike because of alleged police persecution, the city's taxicab drivers today pushed a demand that Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan investigate charges of extortion among members of his department.

Driver after driver complained they were forced to pay graft ranging from $2 to $5 to escape prosecution in the aftermath of a police war to stop the so-called "short haul" taxi racket and overcharging by cab drivers.

The charges were hurled at police during a mass meeting in the Williams Memorial building, South End, where drivers named police officers who allegedly have collected graft. A complete record was taken by John V. Jenkins, president of the AFL Taxi Drivers Union, who threatened to call a city-wide strike unless Commr. Sullivan investigates the charges.

Among the drivers who spoke was John A. Brattin of Alaska st., Dorchester, a former Boston policeman and now serving as a Suffolk County juror. Brattin, who faces court today on a charge of profanity, said he was grabbed by two sergeants Saturday night after he had charged two sailors a 45-cent fee as recorded on the meter.

He said they first accused him of charging two fares and then changed the charge to profanity when the sailors came back and denied it.

Other cabbies told of a certain "Two Buck Joe," who allegedly operates in the downtown area. They named the police officer. Others told of a Back Bay speed trap against cab drivers, with a $5 bill a necessity to escape prosecution and loss of a day's work.

Sailor Sees Revere Girl Drink Poison

Charlotte Furey, 21, of Crescent ave., Revere, was treated at the Charlestown Navy Yard dispensary for poisoning today and later removed to her home.

She was taken to the dispensary in a taxicab by Sailor George Vervis, USN, who said he was sitting with Miss Furey in a Charlestown cafe, when she suddenly drew a small bottle from her pocketbook and swallowed about a half ounce. No reason for the girl's action was given.

Police Probe New Clues In Killing of Jewel Thief

Although three of the five bullets that blasted away his life were frontal body shots, Arthur Duffy, notorious jewel thief and ex-convict, had no holes in his overcoat or jacket when his body was found sprawling in lonely Blanchard st., Cambridge.

This mysterious angle in the apparent underworld slaying of the South Boston and New York man was disclosed today by Lieut. Patrick F. Ready, Cambridge chief of inspectors.

It led police to believe Duffy may have been killed indoors, then stuffed into his outer clothes and dumped out of the automobile at the site where his body was found.

It also prompted Cambridge, Boston and state police to launch a search for three men, one an infamous jewel thief who was believed to have been involved in the murder of Thomas "Red" Curran 10 years ago.

RECALLS CURRAN KILLING

Curran's body, found in a Quincy quarry after he had turned state's evidence in a gang case, bore five bullet holes, all frontal shots and in the same pattern as those in Duffy's body. Two of the bullets that killed Curran were planted on either side of his nose, a "killer's trademark," according to police.

Duffy's safe-deposit box in the Cambridge hotel from which he walked to his death, was opened today. It yielded no clue to the motive for his murder.

Inside were two $100 bills and 15 $10 bills, nothing else. The box was opened by a manufacturers' agent after previous attempts by locksmiths failed. Inspectors Joseph Breen and Francis Marchini of the Cambridge police examined the contents.

In general, authorities were of the belief that Duffy was slain as the result of a double-cross, possibly in an underworld deal in stolen jewelry, Duffy's specialty.

Disclosure that his coat and jacket had no bullet holes followed an autopsy by Dr. Alan R. Moritz, state pathologist, and Dr. Jeremiah Green, medical examiner.

The autopsy revealed that Duffy had not been drugged or knocked senseless before the bullets were pumped into him. This strengthened police belief that he may not have been killed in the car from which he was dumped.

If he was killed in an automobile, his slayer must have held the gun on him, calmly unbuttoned Duffy's coat, pulled aside the jacket and pressed the muzzle against him five times in a merciless "pattern" slaying, police conjectured. Powrer marks were even found on the ex-convict's shattered heart.

After contacting some of Duffy's friends in and out of the underworld, police said they expected to interview at least 100 persons. Today, however, they found no one who would admit knowing that Duffy had been marked for death.

HUNT ASSOCIATES

He was too shrewd a criminal to enter an automobile with anyone in whom he didn't have implicit trust, detectives said. With that in mind, they are searching for men known to have enjoyed his confidence, some one or more of whom have betrayed him to a hired killer.

Apparently the jewel thief had come to Boston on an errand of urgency. He arrived here from Miami by plane and a return ticket was found in his expensive clothing.

In tracing his movements, police discovered that although he knew Boston police had a warrant for him, he went shopping Friday in Tremont street shops.

A search of his Cambridge hotel room disclosed that had purchased underclothes and socks which were still in shopping bags.

ARTHUR DUFFY
"Revenge Killing" Victim

June Lang of the films has been married for the third time, it was revealed in Hollywood today with the announcement that she has been the secret bride of Army Lieut. William Morgan of Chicago since Jan. 5. June's mother said they were married at Santa Monica and now are honeymooning at Coronado.

Parolee Faces Court In 3 Women Attacks

FRAMINGHAM, Jan. 17—His face and head swathed in bandages, Thomas A. Virgoli, 20, of Thorndike st., Arlington, a six-foot parolee from Concord Reformatory, faced arraignment in district court here today on charges of attacking three women, one of whom is hospitalized with serious injuries.

Virgoli, subdued after the husband of one victim crashed a gallon oil jug over his head, was charged with assault and battery and attempted attack during a berserk fury.

Police said Virgoli, who recently returned from a trans-Atlantic trip when he served as a coal passer on a merchant ship, had been employed as a camp cook for a group of Mexican railroad laborers quartered in Natick.

First attack victim was Anna Tambollo, 19, of High st., who was hurled to the ground and beaten with a heavy flashlight while on her way home. Her screams brought Mrs. Ida E. Temple, 52, of Claflin st., a neighbor, to the rescue. Mrs. Temple was knocked down, kicked and so severely beaten she was later hospitalized.

Following his wife to the scene, Oliver Temple, 53, grabbed a glass oil jug which he crashed over the attacker's head. Although dazed by the blow and badly cut, the assailant fled to the home of Marguerite Jordan, 20, in Hayes st., where he attempted to attack her and was finally driven out by Joseph Barbieri, of Bethany st., who was visiting there.

By this time, neighbors had summoned police and the crazed man was arrested by Patrolman William A. Ryan as he was trying to break into the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer King.

Seek 250,000 Service Books

A drive for 250,000 books for members of the armed services and the Merchant Marine opened here today under sponsorship of the Massachusetts Victory Book Committee.

"Don't clean out your attic for the boys," is the appeal of the committee. "Give interesting books from your shelves, books you enjoy reading yourself."

While all types of books are wanted, those especially needed are volumes on travel, biography, science and religion in addition to good fiction. Donations should be taken to your library or the nearest war information center.

5 Local Youths Awarded Bars

Five Greater Boston youths, recent graduates of Marfa, Tex., Army Air Forces Pilot School, have been awarded silver wings and commissioned second lieutenants, the Army announced today.

The new officers are Frank J. McLaughlin of Putnam ave., Cambridge; John D. MacLeod of Quincy st., Medford; Maynard Slessinger of Commonwealth ter., Brighton; Charles E. Bennett of Judson st., Boston, and Alexander E. Balzis of Norwood.

Lieuts. McLaughlin, Blazis and Bennett completed earlier training at Gardner Field, Cal.; MacLeod at Polaris Flight Academy, Lancaster, Cal., and Slessinger at Marana, Ariz., Basic Flying School.

Rep. Wheat of Illinois Dies of Heart Attack

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Rep. William H. Wheat, 64, of Rantoul, Ill., died at Georgetown Hospital yesterday following a heart attack Thursday morning as he prepared to leave for the Capitol.

Wheat, a Republican, was serving his third consecutive term in the House. The body will be taken to Rantoul today for funeral services Wednesday.

SOLDIER'S WIFE, SISTER DIE IN FLAMES

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 17—An overseas sergeant's wife, who was an expectant mother, was burned to death today with her sister when she dashed into their burning house on Main st., Haydenville, in a vain attempt to rescue the sister, trapped in the flames.

The charred bodies of Mrs. Catherine Murphy, 19, who was expecting a baby while her husband was stationed in Britain, and her sister, Miss Anne Michaelski, were discovered by firemen near a window leading to a porched roof.

The fire, caused by an explosion in the oil stove, was discovered by the girls' mother, Mrs. Michael Michaelski.

Mrs. Murphy managed to get to the street, but when she learned her sister, Anne, was inside the flaming house, she ran back again, in a gallant effort to save her. The sisters died side by side.

The interior of the house was gutted, and flames spread to the barn. The barn was totally destroyed. Damage was estimated at $6000.

Fined for Using Customer's Car

The question is: how many miles can the owner of a motor repair concern drive a customer's car to "test it"—and at how many miles does the test become an unauthorized drive?

This moot problem was settled today in Suffolk Superior Court when a sealed verdict by a jury found Roy F. Harris, 40, proprietor of an Everett motor car company, guilty of using an auto without authority. He was fined $50.

Michael F. O'Connell, Moss Hill rd., Jamaica Plain, complained that Harris used his car—which he had brought to Harris' shop for repairs—to make a trip to South Attleboro. On the way back from the trip the car was in collision with another vehicle and O'Connell learned about the trip when he discovered the damage to his car.

Harris admitted he drove the car "to kill two birds with one stone. I wanted to test the car and see a customer in South Attleboro."

What Gets His Coat Is That He's the Goat

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (AP)—Robert Medow was minus an overcoat today—and probably a bit dizzied by the process.

It started two weeks ago when someone took John G. Mahoney's coat from a restaurant and left a poorly-fitting substitute. Mahoney gave the substitute to his brother and bought another.

Last night in a restaurant, Medow lost his coat in the same way, and in the pocket of the substitute was a card addressed to Mahoney. It was Mahoney's original coat.

Medow, believing the switch a mistake, called at Mahoney's home to swap coats. Mahoney demanded his coat, saying he hadn't been near that particular restaurant. Medow demurred; Mahoney called police.

Acting Lieut. Dave Petague, wishing he knew more about Solomon awarded the coat to Mahoney.

Final results: Mahoney has two coats, his own and the one he bought; Mahoney's brother has a free coat; the man who made the swaps has a coat, and Medow has no coat. He thinks it's enough to get one's coat.

Hub Fishermen Sail for Catch

Ending their eight-week strike against OPA ceiling prices, Boston fishermen sailed for the fishing grounds early today. Officials announced that the first boats of the huge Boston fishing fleet will cut short their trips so they can return by next Monday to land their catches and break the fish famine in this area.

All 24 beam trawlers and five draggers, manned by crews totaling 486 men, will be on their way to the fishing banks by tomorrow to join six New Bedford boats which left several days ago. The rest of the New Bedford fleet was also scheduled to head for deep water today.

Dies of Fractured Skull

Mental Test for Vet In Baby Smothering

Edward J. Devine, 20-year-old shell-shocked war veteran, of Decatur st., Cambridge, was under observation at Psycopathic Hospital today, following the suffocation death of his infant nephew.

Police said Devine told them he placed his hand over the baby's mouth and nose, because, on account of his war-shattered nerves, he "could not stand the whimpering and crying." The dead infant was Joseph F. Pizzuto, 7-months-old only child of Mrs. Joseph R. Pizzuto, whose husband is in the Army.

His sister had placed the child in Devine's care while she left her third-floor apartment to visit a friend. When she had gone the child began to whimper. Devine said he placed his hand across its face "until the baby went to sleep" because he couldn't stand the crying.

Later, when he could not rouse the child he hurried to inform his sister. She called police and the baby was taken to Cambridge City Hospital where physicians pronounced him dead. Associate Medical Examiner Dr. Jeremiah Greene said death was due to asphyxiation.

Devine had served in the Army for a year and spent three months fighting in North Africa. He was returned to the United States to be treated for shell shock and was hospitalized in the Halloran General Hospital, New York, for five months.

On Nov. 8, 1943, he received a medical discharge from the Army. He has been living with his sister and his mother at the Decatur st. address.

Escaped Pole Bares Despair Of Nazis Under Allied Bombs

Wojciech Bielak, leader of the Polish peasant party and member of the Polish underground's secret directorate, has just made a daring getaway to London via Germany. Designated by the underground as a special emissary, Bielak was smuggled across Nazi-occupied Europe and had an opportunity to mingle with bombed-out Germans during his perilous odyssey. He casts new light on the state of mind prevalent among the Germans.

By WOJCIECH BIELAK

(As Told To Thomas C. Watson.)

Copyright, 1944, by International News Service

LONDON, Jan. 17 (INS)—I have not merely "escaped" from Poland. Rather, I was pulled away from my job in the underground movement in Poland and told to report to my government in London in order to take up an appointment as representative of the peasant section of the underground movement within the Polish government. And here I am.

Now that I am in London, my first task is to urge on our government the necessity of continuing—and if possible increasing—the air attacks on all parts of Germany. For during my trip through Germany I saw first hand the devastating effects of it.

I saw several trains packed to the roof with evacuees from Berlin, Hamburg and Cologne. The majority of them had only the clothes they stood in, some were without boots or shoes, many without shirts. Others clung feverishly to small brown paper parcels—and all had that haunted, despairing look of the homeless and hopeless.

Credit must be given to the excellent organization of the Nazis in dealing with these wretched people. Soup and light food was dished out to them in equal quantities and boots were given to the bootless, shirts to those who needed them. Any squawking meant a kick or a clubbing.

They were afraid to open their mouths, either in protest or even to moan. But curiously enough, some of them were not afraid to talk to me about their troubles after they recognized that I was a foreigner and realized I could have no sympathy with the Gestapo.

In Germany I was able to talk to the average German and now and again to a soldier on leave. The civilians were in despair, but still had faith in their Fuehrer pulling off a good political peace. The soldiers I spoke to were just hoping for peace and no more eastern front. Only the very young Nazis kept up their swaggering cocksureness.

The Gestapo infiltrates everywhere.

I saw little of the actual damage done by the American and the RAF raids. Anyone fool enough to try to go to Cologne, Hamburg or the Ruhr towns without having definitely stated business in those places would instantly be suspected.

The few people I did see in Germany, however, contrasted very remarkably from the Germans who had been settled in Poland. Those in Poland knew they had lost the war, but the people in Germany just did not seem to know anything, or want to know anything.

The German civilian morale, as far as I could judge, has not yet cracked, but there were plenty of signs of despair.

All the German people want is the bombing, even the war, to stop. That is why the Allies should continue to intensify their aerial attacks.

Survivor Says Andean Quake Wiped Out City in One Blow

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 17 (AP)—A survivor of the disastrous earthquake which wiped out the picturesque Andean city of San Juan during the week-end, killing and injuring thousands, said today that the temblor struck one mighty blow, "cutting the city at the roots as if by a scythe."

The survivor, Moises Rudman, declared upon reaching Mendoza that the quake came without warning and in an instant plunged the city of 30,000 into total darkness. Hundreds of survivors huddled in the city square and open spaces, he added, while others sought to extricate the dying and the injured, whose screams were heard in the darkness.

Troops and other rescue workers were digging additional bodies from the ruins of the dead city today as the nation mobilized aid for the survivors of Argentina's worst earthquake in 83 years. By official count 500 bodies have been recovered so far, but estimates on the total number of dead mounted to between 1400 and 1600.

Authorities said that 90 per cent of the buildings in San Juan were destroyed and none of those left standing was habitable. The quake crumbled modern, steel-reinforced structures.

The injured taxed the hospitals of Mendoza, 75 miles south of San Juan, and authorities ordered school buildings converted into hospitals. Physicians and nurses worked without rest. Additional doctors and nurses, and blood plasma, medicine, food and clothing, were being rushed by train, plane and truck.

Offers of help came from all sections of the nation and from Chile. Within 24 hours after the disaster, more than 500,000 pesos (about $125,000) were contributed by Argentines and government officials arranged a meeting of bankers and industrialists and other businessmen to plan for large-scale relief work.

The town, which was founded by Spaniards in 1562, suffered a severe earthquake in 1894 and lesser ones in 1936 and last March.

3 Yanks Dead, 9 Injured in Wreck

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—A toll of nine dead and 30 injured, including three American airmen killed and nine U. S. soldiers injured, was counted today in the crash of two London-bound trains in the suburban station of Ilford.

Names of the Americans were not disclosed.

American and British soldiers aided railwaymen and civil defense squads in removing the dead and injured from the wreckage.

A rescue worker said of the American boys:

"I have never seen people work like those boys did."

U. S. Airmen Batter Indo-China Japs

CHUNGKING, Jan. 17 (AP)—U. S. Mitchell bombers of the 14th Air Force showered explosives on the power plant at Hongay in French Indo-China Saturday, scoring near misses on the main buildings and destroying an outbuilding, Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

The communique said the bombers also scored hits on railroad trackage at Campha Port while other Mitchells sank a collier off Swatow, bombed a lighthouse and destroyed many buildings on Nanpeng island.

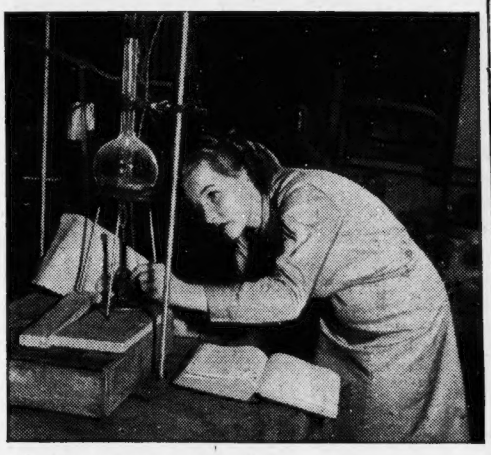
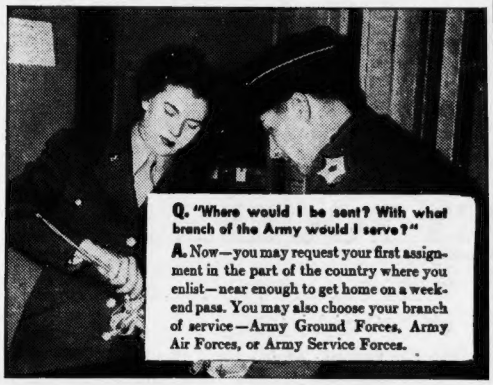
Is this what you've wondered about the WAC?



Q. "What kind of job would I do?"

A. Any one of 239 types of Army jobs. All kinds of special skills are needed—clerical workers, medical technicians, mechanics, teachers. Women without experience can get expert Army training—in skills for which they have natural aptitude.



Q. "Where would I be sent? With what branch of the Army would I serve?"

A. Now—you may request your first assignment in the part of the country where you enlist—near enough to get home on a weekend pass. You may also choose your branch of service—Army Ground Forces, Army Air Forces, or Army Service Forces.

Q. "Aren't there enough Wacs without me?"

A. No! General Marshall says: "Many thousands more Wacs are needed." Unless more women join at once, the War Department cannot meet the demands which come in daily from Army Ground Forces, Army Service Forces, and Army Air Forces.

What else do you wonder?

MACARTHUR STILL DENIED U. S. VISIT

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (INS)—Official disclosure that Gen. Eisenhower, supreme European commander, visited Washington last week served to focus attention today on the Roosevelt Administration's attitude toward Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme southwest Pacific commander.

Gen. MacArthur is the only American theater commander who has visited neither Washington nor his homeland since before Pearl Harbor.

A movement has developed throughout the nation to draft MacArthur for the Republican nomination for President. Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan heads the movement. Polls have shown MacArthur running second only to Gov. Dewey as G. O. P. nomination favorite.

From MacArthur's headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, correspondents have cleared stories picturing the general as not being a candidate for the presidential nomination but as unlikely to refuse it if the Republican convention drafts him for the 1944 race.

These correspondents have written that the general, if nominated, would remain at his field headquarters throughout the campaign, returning to the United States only if elected.

A prominent Democrat commented that the administration would not permit MacArthur to visit the United States before the election, because his presence in this country might determine the outcome of that election. This Democrat observed:

"If MacArthur came home now on any kind of mission he would be nominated by the Republicans and elected President. That's my solemn judgment. He would be given an ovation by the American people that would dwarf the one given Lindbergh following his transatlantic flight. The administration simply couldn't keep his visit secret, as it did Eisenhower's, without being accused of trying to block MacArthur's election to the presidency."

Berlin Claims 10 Allied Ships Sunk

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Berlin radio asserted today German submarines had sunk five transports totaling 36,500 tons, three destroyers and two submarines in recent attacks upon Allied shipping in the North Atlantic, the Mediterranean and the Black Sea.

The claims were without confirmation by Allied sources.

Leaves Police Clue In $750 Coat Theft

A thief who stole a $700 leopard skin coat and a camel's hair coat valued at $50 from the coat room at O'Connell Post, American Legion, in South st., Jamaica Plain, landed in the hands of police today because he was absent-minded.

The thief, who left his own coat in place of the two he pilfered, inadvertently forged to remove his name and address from his pocket.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Harland of Butler st., Quincy, who were attending a wedding reception at the Legion post, were the theft victims. They reported the theft to police and a check at the address found in the substitute coat led to the arrest of a Roxbury man and recovery of the stolen clothing. His name was withheld.

A FEW OF THE MANY WHO HAVE TRAVELLED BY AIR OVERSEAS DURING THIS WAR

TO WORK TOGETHER
PEOPLE FIRST MUST GET TOGETHER

The President of the United States to Africa, by air!

The Secretary of State to Russia, by air!

Numerous other Americans and leaders of the United Nations, on their world-wide war missions, are criss-crossing the world by air.

They have to go to places quickly in order to do things quickly!

It's Getting Commonplace

Not only do transport planes quickly bridge the Atlantic and Pacific for thousands of persons, but also for tons and tons of products necessary to win this war. The crews of the cargo and passenger planes of the Army's Air Transport Command and the Naval Air Transport Service will go down in history for the vital roles they are playing in today's world drama.

Yes, international war travellers do use air as nonchalantly as we at home hail a taxi.

Due to air transportation the old song title "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" now has universal significance.

Why Not? Air Is Everywhere

The importance of why one travels changes with the times. Now it's for military, political and morale reasons.

Tomorrow, it will be for all manner of business, professional and recreational reasons. Then, the travel missions of even more people, both domestic and international, will acquire first rank in importance.

American Airlines Will Grow

Peacetime travellers too will demand the time-saving, easy, comfortable air-way to go places and do things.

Our job is to grow in order to enable more people, in all lines of business, to get together quicker so that they may work together more effectively.

It's Inevitable

Large as is the volume of today's wartime air travel it is only a hint of the inevitable postwar volume. Even if we desired to, we could not prevent its growth, any more than the steamship, the train and the motor car were prevented.

American Airlines, being the greatest national airline and a great international airline, is preparing for future expansion —because, air transportation is still NEW for millions of people.

Hull Flier's 145 Missions Aid to Health

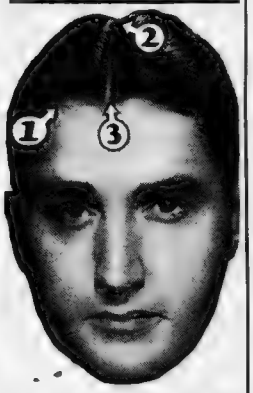
Home on furlough after 11 months in the Pacific during which he won five decorations, First Lieut. Donald J. McDonald, 26, of Atherton rd., Hull, was hailed today as "one of America's luckiest fighting pilots."

During his campaigns against the Japs, Lieut. McDonald has flown 145 missions, piled up 304 combat hours, and not only did he never suffer a scratch or illness, but he actually gained 10 pounds. He was once reported missing in action.

Strafing, dive-bombing and engaging Zeros in aerial battle, he won the Air Medal and four oak leaf clusters. Two of the awards were granted for dive-bombing Jap ammunition dumps to pave the way for the Munda campaign. The others were given as his missions added up. He is credited with two probables, "smokers" in his own words, in his engagements with Jap planes. His section of four planes also is credited with sinking one Jap destroyer and five transports.

Honor Airways Head

NEW YORK (AP)—President Juan Terry Trippe of Pan-American Airways was awarded the Explorers Club's annual scroll for "far-sighted pioneering and exploration by air" at the club's annual dinner attended by 500 explorers and guests.



HAIR CARE

starts at these 3 points

WHEN you first notice ugly, itchy dandruff scales at your (1) temples, (2) crown, or (3) frontal point, let a Thomas expert remove them. Without dandruff scales, your hair will look better and your scalp will feel better. The reliable, 20-year proved Thomas method leaves your scalp with a fresh, clean, healthy feeling—even after the very first treatment.

Consult a Thomas expert today—in private—without charge or obligation. He'll advise you in detail concerning your hair problems. He'll show you exactly what Thomas treatment is, and how it works. You'll see for yourself why 1600 other persons each day entrust Thomas with their problems of hair care. Come in today!

Softness and staying power are wedded at last

What will you look for first, in your next little suit with a big future? Soft, fluent needlework—willow-slim sleekness. And what woolens do you prize above all others? Of course, those wonderful weaves with a velvety feel and a will of iron. Well then, mark this down as a red letter day. And jot this down in your little red book—Bond has merged this delectable combination in a brand new collection of suits you'll love, and live in, for a long time. Suits as softly simple as a sprig of candy-tuft. Suits with that wear-forever quality for which Bond is famous. And best of all, suits that fit like expensive custom-mades—even if you are shorter or taller than average.

Bond's specially proportioned models take care of that. Exciting, isn't it?—Particularly at this Bond miracle price.

U. S. Flier Bags 8 Nazi Planes

LONDON, Jan. 17 (INS)—Staff Sergt. James R. Hamilton of Joycetown, Ky., gunner aboard the American Flying Fortress "Bad Penny," was credited today by nine members of the crew with shooting down at least eight German fighters in an attack on Oschersleben.

Hamilton had knocked one enemy plane out of the air when he was hit and became unconscious. He quickly revived, however, and fought savagely against Nazi fighters for three hours despite loss of blood. The German attacks were incessant because the "Bad Penny" had been damaged and forced out of formation.

VATICAN SEEN FACING GRAVE PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Difficult readjustments for the Catholic Church in the post-war period, with the possibility even of a strong anti-clerical movement in its home seat in Italy, are forecast in a survey of Papal foreign and political policy published by the Foreign Policy Association.

Sherman S. Hayden, assistant to the president of the Foreign Policy Ass'n, prepared the report for the privately financed International Relations Research Organization. Available Catholic leaders here declined to discuss the report, on the ground it is a matter of general Papal policy, outside their province.

"Critics (of the Papacy), both friendly and hostile," Hayden says, "have forecast a period of unprecedented anti-clericalism in Italy, believing that the long association of the Vatican with Fascism will reap its harvest of hatred and even of persecution."

Events since the actual invasion of Italy, however, make that development seem less likely, he continues, "with growing evidence that the church is still regarded in some quarters as a refuge from Fascism, and even that the Vatican has offered sanctuary to anti-Fascist refugees since the German occupation of Rome."

On the score of the church's general post-war position, the report says grave problems "are certain to confront the Papacy."

"The predominance of Russia on the continent," Haden says, "will impose the necessity of reckoning anew with atheistic Communism, and the past policy of unswerving hostility may make this difficult."

Lunenburg Flier Cited After Death

Posthumous award of the Navy Cross to Lieut. (jg) Frederick C. Cross, Jr., USNR, 26, son of Mrs. Dorothea F. Cross of Lunenburg, killed during an engagement with an enemy submarine, was announced today by Navy Secretary Frank Knox.

Lieut. Cross, serving with a bombing squadron of the Atlantic fleet as pilot of a Navy JV-1 plane, was cited for dropping depth bombs "which possibly damaged the undersea craft," despite mortal injuries. "After struggling in vain to maintain flight, he succeeded in effecting a perfect landing, thus enabling his co-pilot and radio operator to survive and subsequently obtain safety, Lieut. Cross' citation read.

3 Bay State Fliers Awarded Air Medals

HEADQUARTERS, SEVENTH ARMY AIR FORCES, Hawaii, Jan. 10 (Delayed) (AP)—Crew members of the Seventh Army Air Force Bomber Command received awards from Maj.-Gen. Willis H. Hale, commander of the Seventh Air Force, for participation in long-range bombing of the Marshall, Mauru and Gilbert Islands in the Central Pacific, it was announced today.

The following three Massachusetts men received the Air Medal: Staff Sergt. Cornelius D. Sullivan, of Worcester; Staff Sergt. Michael L. Smith, of New Bedford; and Pvt. Leopold H. Bibeau, of Lowell. An Oak Leaf Cluster was awarded to Capt. John R. Risher of Vermont.

BIDDLE MAY SURRENDER KILLER LEPKE

By MARTHA KEARNEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (INS) —Friends of Atty.-Gen. Francis Biddle disclosed today that he has made up his mind to turn Louis "Lepke" Buchalter over to New York State authorities without exacting assurance of his electrocution from Gov. Dewey.

When this is done, Buchalter would be released from a 14-year federal sentence on a narcotics rap to face a New York State death sentence on a 1941 murder conviction based on his status as the brains of "Murder, Inc." and the murder of a Brooklyn candy store owner.

Rumors have long prevailed that once Buchalter was released to New York State authorities he would obtain a conditional commutation of his death sentence from Gov. Dewey in exchange for a sweeping confession of other crimes involving other persons.

Some highly-placed officials say a complete Buchalter confession would create headline sensations with shattering repercussions in the fields of politics and organized labor.

In pre-prison days as the first half of the murderous Lepke-Gurrah team Buchalter terrorized the cloak and suit business, extorted fantastic sums from the wholesale fur trade and summarily cut himself into the dope racket at an estimated profit of five million dollars a year.

His wholesale clothing plunder was estimated at ten million dollars a year by the New York district attorney's office at the time of his indictment.

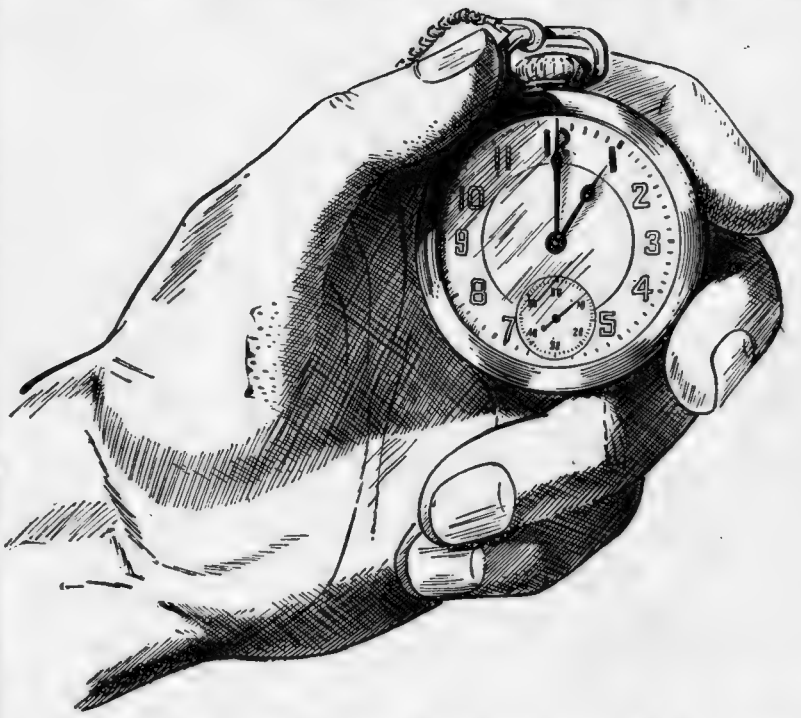
Minutes matter more in war



When Long Distance lines are crowded the operator will say

"PLEASE LIMIT YOUR CALL TO 5 MINUTES"

There's a good reason for that. • It's to help everybody get better service. • And you can say a lot in five minutes. Maybe you can hold that next Long Distance call to three minutes. • That would be even better.

900,000 SET TO LAUNCH NEW BOND DRIVE

More than 100,000 volunteer workers and 800,000 school children await tomorrow's opening gun in the Fourth War Loan campaign, pledged to place a war bond sticker in every home in Massachusetts.

The red, white and blue stickers, lettered "We Bought Extra War Bonds," will be issued for each bond purchase throughout the drive.

Massachusetts' quota in the national drive for $14,000,000,000 is $794,000,000 with $258,000,000 of this amount to be purchased by individual subscribers.

Mobilized for the campaign are 10,000 Boston air raid wardens, who will meet tonight in John Hancock Hall, Stuart st.

One hundred buyers of a $10,000 war bond each will make up a "Million-Dollar Jury" which will hear the evidence in the case of the United Nations against the Nazi war criminals at an International Court rehearsal trial in U. S. Courtroom Six, on the 15th floor of the Postoffice bldg., from 4 to 6 p. m. tomorrow.

Supreme Court Justice Georges Rollin, of Belgium, will be presiding judge, with Judge George C. Sweeney, Sr., and Judge Peter Woodbury, as associates.

Yen for Service Clue To Missing Lynn Boy

Acting on a mother's belief that her son, who though only 15, is six-feet tall and weighs 200 pounds, may be trying to enlist in the armed forces, Lynn police checked with recruiting agencies today in search of Edward Bornstein who disappeared from his Whiting st., Lynn, home Friday night.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bornstein, said the youngster, a Boy Scout, had expressed a desire to be in service, and that he might be in company with Martin Zide, 15, of Harwood st., Lynn, also missing.

Maine Man Fatally Scalded in Hub Hotel

Sudden collapse while preparing to take a bath was seen today as the cause of the death of John A. Ferris, 45, of Eastport, Me., who died of hot water burns suffered lying in scalding water.

Groans from a fourth floor room attracted Harry Nelson, a special officer, who found the victim in a bathtub at a downtown hotel.

Bodies

the boys, she said, then left the car again and started to walk across a field, seeking a highway. The field was snow-covered and she fell down twice. It was biting cold.

Finally she became so cold and confused that she could "stand it no longer" and returned to the car.

Once more she tried to rouse Ruth and then noticed there was frost on the chum's eyelids and lashes and "she looked funny." Still Grace had no suspicion, she declared, that Ruth was doing anything but sleeping.

This time Grace also tried to wake the brothers, but without success. She said she tried then to tell the time by a wrist watch carried by one of the brothers and noticed that his hand had "turned purple."

REMAINED WITH DEAD

Nobody would wake up and she still did not want to leave Ruth, so Grace stayed on in the car, she said, trying from time to time to rouse the three.

From then on—through Friday night, through all of Saturday, through Saturday night and well along into Sunday—Grace remained there, she said, and is not certain what she did.

Some time Sunday—she isn't sure when—she decided she must go home, whether or not Ruth accompanied her.

She left the car and went across the same field, finally coming to a highway where cars passed. Six or seven autos went by without stopping, she sair, but finally "a nice young man" braked his car down and asked where she was going.

She told him she wanted to go to Central sq., Cambridge.

"I'm not going that far," he said, "but I'll take you to a bus line."

HAD HER FARE

He took her to the bus line and was kind enough to ask her if she had money for her fare. She had, she said, because she had opened Ruth's handbag on last leaving the car of death, and had taken some change out.

Aboard a bus, an elderly man watched her for some time, Grace said, and finally asked her if she were ill. She said she did feel ill.

"I'll stay on wtih you then until you get home," the elderly man said.

At Central sq. he asked where next she must go and she took him aboard a trolley car and rode to Harvard sq.

MOTHER IN COLLAPSE

She explained that by saying she was confused, so confused that at Harvard sq. the man suggested a taxi, and accompanied her home in it.

He left her at her house and when she walkedin after being missing since Thursday her mother, Mrs. Nellie Saunders, widowed and with two other children, became hysterical and colapsed.

The family physician, Dr. Myer Marlin, was called, treated both mother and daughter, and Grace was removed to the hospital.

When Grace suddenly blurted out that her chum and the two boy friends were still in the automobile parked "somewhere off the Concord turnpike out past Arlington," police were notified.

Police Sergt. John O'Brien of Cambridge sent an alarm to search for the car, this resulting in Patrolmen John Russell and George Smith of Lexington police discovering the machine in the wagon-rutted turnout from Hatch's lane, only about 80 yards of fthe turnpike.

BODIES ARE IDENTIFIED

Today the three bodies in the car were definitely identified at the Marshall undertaking parlor, Lexington Center, as those of Ruth and the Keefe brothers.

The identifications were made by the boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Keefe of Waltham, and by Ruth's father, Anthony K. Place.

Police Chief John Reycroft of Lexington said he was looking for the men's overcoats, which were missing when the tragedy was discovered. He also disclosed the death car had been moved 15 or 20 feet from its original position.

The older Keefe brother was disclosed to be the father of two children. They make their home with his estranged wife in Eliot pl. Newton Upper Falls. The children are Jeanne, 4, and Thomas, 3. The couple separated six months ago, polise said.

Two soldiers are included among the men's survivors. They are their brothers, Philip, 22, and Joseph, 27, both in the Army. Other survivors in addition to the parents are Mrs. Gordon C. Sheffer of Elm st., Waltham; Helen, 20, William, 15, and Edna, 12.

The family formerly lived in Needham.

Miss Place leaves a sister, Lois, 12, and three brothers, Richard, 10; William, 4. and Donald, 2.—Before moving to the Warrendale section of Waltham, the family resided in Lowell.

Penicillin Heals Tarawa Wounded

By EUGENE BURNS

AIEA NAVAL HOSPITAL, Oahu, T. H., Jan. 17 (AP)—Penicillin is being used to heal the ragged gunshot wounds and lung punctures sustained by American landing forces on Tarawa atoll in the Gilbert islands.

Medical officers of this naval hospital said today the mold-drug is found an effective aid in healing some of the worst battle wounds.

"We are still in the experimental stage with lung and bone cases," says Capt. Edward Watts, Seattle, Wash., chief of medicine at the hospital, "but the results look gratifying."

Particularly, penicillin is being used in cases where the use of sulfa drugs has not proved effective, Capt. Watts said.

BRICKER SEEKS TO WOO TEXAS FROM NEW DEAL

By GEORGE R. BROWN

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 17—Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio has brought his candidacy for the Republican nomination for President boldly into a state which is obviously hovering on the borderline of political loyalty to the Roosevelt New Deal.

One can obtain two sets of opinions here, from purely Democratic sources. According to one opinion, Texas will cast its electoral vote for the Democratic candidate for President, even for Mr. Roosevelt if he should run for a fourth term. But probably, and certainly in the latter event, by a greatly reduced Democratic majority.

FED UP ON NEW DEAL

There is another Democratic opinion here in Dallas, which is this, that the people of Texas are completely fed up on the regimentation of the New Deal, on the inefficiency of the Roosevelt bureaucracy, and on certain social-political policies of the Roosevelts, especially those more identified in the public mind with Mrs. Roosevelt.

According to this opinion, Texas will go Republican in the presidential election this year, if the Republican Party will nominate an attractive candidate.

Wendell L. Willkie was down here blustering around in November, and a student of political trends—inquiry confined strictly to good Democrats, and not embracing any Republicans—discovers quite a little Willkie sentiment. This is natural—he is in reality a Democrat.

Gov. Bricker is in East Texas as this is written. But some time must elapse before it is possible to determine what effect, if any, his coming will have had upon his political fortunes in this great state.

CHANCE TO REPEAT

It would be impossible for anyone to say now whether Gov. Bricker is one of the Republicans who, as candidate for President, might have a chance to repeat Herbert Hoover's feat in 1928, and carry Texas.

20 BACK FROM HELL . . By Burris Jenkins, Jr.

PVT. HENRY WICK- COLLEGE PT., N.Y. HE WENT DOWN IN A LOST CAUSE-
"A BULLET SPLINTERS THE STOCK OF WICK'S GARAND- SHOOTING AWAY TWO OF HIS FINGERS!
14 MORE OF THE ENEMY GATHER ROUND THE SQUEALING JAP-"

"HE SEES FROSTY THROW UP HIS RIFLE AND HEARS ONE SHOT...THE JAP LIES THERE SCREAMING..!"

IT WAS a "brainstorm" all right, as Hank Wick puts it. Crouched in jungle grass on a scouting mission Hank and Frosty think of it at the same time—"Let's capture 'em!"

They don't need to whisper the words. They just look at each other and get the idea and start crawling cautiously backward to circle the deserted native village where a minute ago three Japs sat in the sunlight before an empty hut.

Now the Japs are gone . . .

Approaching soundlessly from the other side, Frosty rounds the corner of the hut. Hank covers him with a Garand 20 feet to the left. There are no Japs before the hut when they reach it, only a pile of equipment—bandoliers and field packs. Hank and Frosty are, to put it mildly, puzzled . . .

Then Hank sees Frosty throw up his rifle and hears one shot shatter the tropical noon calm as Hank whirls in time to see the Jap 25 feet to his left drop the rifle that was aimed at Hank's head and sink back in the undergrowth. The Jap hadn't seen Frosty and Hank hadn't seen the Jap.

By this time Pvt. Henry Wick of College Point, N. Y., "begins to get a little scared." His fear is not lessened by the sight of 14 more enemy swarming out of the jungle to gather around the spot where the squealing Jap lies.

Everything Goes "Too Smoothly"

It's not only for themselves that the two Americans are afraid. It's the whole expedition. Orders were specifically "avoid all contact with the enemy" . . .

Hank and Frosty didn't know this order when early one morning last January a sergeant awoke them with the laconic command, "Pack up, we're leavin'."

They had no idea where they were going until their weapons platoon boarded landing boats before daylight along with a rifle company, to circle Guadalcanal for a full day and a half before they reached a spot far behind the Jap main lines.

On the way around the boys began to suspect what was cooking. Everything went too smoothly for a week. The Americans, bivouacked 100 yards back from the beach, enjoyed such peace and quiet that Hank and Frosty actually got "tired of layin' around."

It was a relief to them when a lieutenant called for volunteers to accompany him 40 miles up the beach "right into Jap territory."

Late one evening the volunteers including, of course, Hank and Frosty, along with the lieutenant and native scouts and carriers, shoved off.

At 7 a. m. each day, teams of [illegible] accompanied most of the time by native scouts, would crawl stealthily as close to Jap concentrations as possible where reports on enemy food and physical condition could be sent back over a field telephone.

("You can tell by looking at a Jap how well he is eating.")

Sometimes it was impossible to get back to base at the usual 4 p. m., so the men would spend the night in the bush to return next day. Nobody worried because all the men had maps of the area and it was assumed that all were "avoiding contact with the enemy."

Two Americans Trapped in Hut

Which explains why Hank and Frosty felt more than personal concern when at 1 p. m. on the eighth day they obey that spectacular impulse to capture three Japs in this hitherto deserted native village and find themselves facing 14 hostile Nipponese.

For a minute the two Americans trapped in the hut debate in whispers whether to make a break for the woods or lie quiet. Their decision, unanimous, settles on offense as the safest form of defense, and without hesitation or delay both open fire with Garands as fast as they can reload, succeeding so well in sounding like a full regiment—besides winging a few Japs—that the enemy detachment retreats hastily into the jungle in one direction while Hank and Frosty retire as rapidly along the opposite route—arriving back at their base promptly at 4 p. m.

From then on it isn't so funny—particularly to Pvt. Henry Wick, who loses two fingers and almost his life in the disastrous conclusion that follows.

It's late in the afternoon two days later when the entire patrol approaches this same village again with the purpose of setting up guns to defend it for the battalion due next day.

Another patrol from the main detachment is coming down in a boat and Wick and his patrol walking on a trail below the hill parallel to the beach see the boat drop anchor at a prearranged spot four miles from the village. They hear the motor shut off . . .

And then a hell of gunfire bursts from the hills behind [illegible]. The hidden Jap O. P. force pours everything short of artillery into the anchored vessel, and Wick realizes that the helpless men out there are part of his own platoon.

The Japs haven't seen the patrol on the beach and the patrol doesn't know nor care how strong the Jap force is. They can only think of their ambushed pals on the boat as the men crawl up to flank the 50 odd Japs and wade in with rifles, grenades, knives and bayonets . . .

Twenty-one dead Japs remain when the rest retreat, but not before a machine bullet splinters the stock of Wick's rifle, shooting away the middle finger and half of the index finger on his left hand and another bullet punctures his right forearm.

Machine Gun Keeps Following Hank

Hank dives down the side of a hill, the machinegun following him all the way. He rolls into the grass overlooking the beach and he lies half-conscious throughout the last half hour of the battle, rousing himself only long enough to put sulpha on his wounds and swallow the tablets.

As the firing stops, Hank has no way of knowing who won. If it's the Japs he prefers to lie there and die before being captured . . .

Then he sees a native boy creeping along the shore. When Wick sees the native stand up and walk without drawing Jap fire, Hank knows the Japs have evacuated.

Groggy and bleeding, he stumbles the four or five miles back to the patrol base to learn that the boat escaped with only one man killed and four wounded. The casualties in his patrol are two others wounded besides himself.

There are no medics at the patrol base so Hank wraps his wounds in an old undershirt to await the arrival of a destroyer bringing in the battalion next day.

The destroyer carries him and the other wounded to the field base at Tulagi. From there he's flown to a Navy Hospital where his fingers are properly amputated.

Now in M. P. in Battle Creek, Mich., Pvt. Wick thinks he wouldn't mind going through it all again if he had it to do over.

"I'm not sure whether it was worth losing two fingers for, but I do know that our patrol work was more fun than sitting in foxholes."

He explains the absence of all citations on his record except the Purple Heart quite simply:

"Why should they hand out decorations for failures? None of us on that expedition got cited because the whole thing turned out to be a flop . . . They only pay off on winners in this war . . ."

'The Commander-in-Chief'

PASSING over questions of ethics and good taste some of the most devoted adherents of President Roosevelt are questioning the political wisdom of referring to him constantly as "The Commander-in-Chief."

With the 1944 political campaign already in full swing Harry Hopkins and David Niles, representing the so-called palace guard, with the apparent approval of the President, have been encouraging the widespread use of the military title, but they have been provoking some disturbing comments from the folks whose boys are facing the grim realities of war.

In all the history of human conflict war has never been the grim business that it is today. Never before have such gigantic armies been mobilized and been transported over long distances to engage in the business of destruction with weapons so varied and powerful. In comparison, warfare as conducted by Alexander, Caesar, Tamerlane, and Bonaparte was a simple operation.

In modern warfare political interference or even incompetent professional direction can be responsible overnight for the sacrifice of hundreds of thousands of lives and even for the destruction of nations.

The proud French empire, possibly stricken from the category of first-class nations, overshadows all other exemplars of political domination of military affairs.

The maniacal activities of Hitler in imposing his intuitive decisions upon the professional soldiers of Germany may prove to be the most fortunate blunder in the modern history of the world.

Through the sacrifice of human life and treasure up to now the American people have become acquainted with the realities of war. With millions of their sons and daughters scattered over the earth, on the seas and in the skies, in deadly combat, they await stoically the grim and inevitable messages of condolence as the casualty lists pile up.

These mothers and fathers, the wives and the prospective wives of these soldiers, sailors, marines, and airmen are in no mood for political histrionics.

THE OVERWHELMING MAJORITY of these people realize that President Roosevelt is a civilian who has never had any military experience of any kind. Most of them know that he is the only one of the big four who has not had such experience.

They are familiar with the fact that Churchill and Chiang Kai-shek were educated and served as professional soldiers, and that Stalin had actual military experience in the civil wars of Russia.

They also know that the President's only connection with military affairs was in a political capacity as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, where he had no relationship to operations.

Of course, every student knows that the provision of the Constitution making the Chief Executive the Ex Officio Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces was designed to accentuate the subordination of the military to the civil authority and was never intended or construed to mean that the President should actually function as a military commander.

Giving such a twist to the provision for political purposes is not only a disservice to the country but might well prove a very great political liability to the President.

Already the question is being asked, "Who was the Commander-in-Chief when Pearl Harbor happened?"

The whole Commander-in-Chief theme is a political fraud, which causes unnecessary misgivings and heartaches.

Messrs. Hopkins and Niles would be well advised if they reviewed their strategy.

Give a Book to a Soldier

ALL AMERICANS, and certainly all New Englanders, want to bring happiness to their defenders in military service.

The Massachusetts Victory Book Committee gives them a splendid opportunity to accomplish this patriotic desire.

In the next few weeks the Committee hopes to attain 250,000 books for distribution to training camps, war zones, hospitals and ships.

Only the generosity of a co-operating public can supply that many volumes.

Mystery stories, Westerns, "pocket books" and modern novels are especially needed. Lonely men thousands of miles from home prefer "light" and entertaining literature. "Dry" reading does not attract them.

We therefore urge every American and every New Englander to select at least one suitable book from his living room table this week and take it to the nearest public library or a War Information Center.

There, it will be picked up by an authorized agent and promptly delivered to a camp, hospital or ship.

If a person does not have a book to contribute, he should buy one at a newsstand and donate it at his earliest convenience.

Civic, business and church groups can help this important campaign by collecting books from their members and friends.

Although my dreams may not come true
I string them all on high;
Their star dust brightens mundane chores
As years go rushing by.
—ANNETTE VICTORIA.

AM STILL going for those questionnaires in which you give yourself so much for each right answer to see if you amount to anything. Last night I fell for one by Ernest Chappell titled "Are You a Genius?" The first question: "What state of the Union does not allow a divorce for any cause?" I answered quick as a flash. That's South Carolina. Then came one, "Do porcupines shoot their quills in self defense?" I answered in the affirmative. Later when I looked it up the answer was "no." It happens I have a friend who has a dachshund who attacked a porcupine. The dog returned home full of quills. My friend and I thought the porcupine had shot these quills into the dog. I must consult this "Are You a Genius?" expert on this matter. Or is there a porcupine expert in the house?

BREVITY: Commenting on the value of brevity in the national campaign to save paper, the St. Louis Globe Democrat has observed: "The story of the creation of the world is told in Genesis in 400 words. The world's greatest moral code—the Ten Commandments—contains only 297 words. Lincoln's immortal Gettysburg Address is about 266 words in length. The Declaration of Independence required 1321 words to set up a new concept of freedom. The Office of Price Administration uses 2500 words to announce a reduction in the price of cabbage seed."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q. Isn't the expression "And so what?" of comparatively recent origin and out of place in a film with the background of the nineteen twenties? A. I don't think it is so recent. I remember when in college I went to a party in Hartford, Ct., and somebody said of me: "He's from New York City." I distinctly remember the Hartford blonde to whom this remark was addressed saying: "And so what?" Q. Do many women have their first child after 40 years of age? A. I don't think many do, but I have heard of several who have had that experience. In fact, I have heard of a woman who had her first child when 52 years old.

ASIDES: Heard Phil Baker on the air the other night. He was good. But not nearly so good as when teamed with Sid Silvers in vaudeville. Remember Sid? He was the fellow in the box who heckled Baker. Some comedian that Silvers. Why isn't he in radio? . . . A New York legislator has proposed a bill suggesting away-from-the-racetrack betting be legalized and taxed. He is exactly right. Why make gambling legal inside a fence and a crime outside? Furthermore, why should those who bet with the bookies enjoy the luxury of gambling without being taxed? As for the bookies, they are just parasites making a living from a business to which they contribute nothing.

PLEASE NOTE: After the war there will be through streamliners from coast to coast. It's figured the trip from New York to San Francisco will take 60 hours. The first time I went from New York to California it took me 26 days. No, I didn't go on horseback or by a covered wagon but via the Panama Canal. Slides in the Culebra Cut delayed the boat 10 days at Colon. Trip was supposed to take 16 days. However, the 10 days and nights in Colon passed pleasantly. Especially the nights. The Colonel's Cabaret in Colon is the only night club I have been in where you could get a hair-cut and see a floor show at the same time. There was a barber-shop in the corner of the club.

THINGS TO COME: A sending and receiving radio set so small it can be put in a man's vest pocket. That's what a radio expert says we will have after the war. Won't it be fine when your wife and self are in touch by two-way radio at all times? Imagine the little lady broadcasting: "Calling Jonothan Doakes! Calling Jonothan Doakes! This is Mrs. Doakes broadcasting from the beautiful Doakes home in the heart of suburban New Rochelle. Listen, Mr. Doakes, wherever you are, in office or cocktail bar, dinner will be on the table at six-thirty sharp. That is all!"

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Jan. 16—Friday and Saturday were the beginning of the infantile paralysis campaign for me. In a rather chilly atmosphere, a rather small group of us stood outside at Loew's Capitol Theater Friday noon and opened the "Mile of Dimes." The various bottles representing different States were not yet marked. When I opened my purse to find the two ten-cent pieces that I always put on the line for my husband and myself, I only had one ten-cent piece! The gentlemen around me were too chivalrous to change a dollar bill—they all wanted to give me the extra ten cents. But I finally persuaded them to take the dollar bill.

AFTER HAVING ACQUIRED a ten-cent piece from one of them, I went through the usual process of speaking over the radio with one of the District of Columbia commissioners, Mr. Mason, and then placed my dimes on the line.

Yesterday Miss Mary Pickford came to lunch with me. She has been appointed by the National Foundation as chairman of the woman's division, and she is giving all of her time to help the foundation during this drive. I enjoyed interviewing her on the radio after lunch.

IT IS GOING to be hard to find volunteers to do some of the things which have been done before by paid employes such as taking up collections night after night in theaters. Volunteers will have to do this now because theaters are understaffed. But I think they will be found, for many women who cannot do a full time job will gladly give a few hours several times a week during a short period. They know that infantile paralysis does not stop because we happen to be fighting a war.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17—You're going to meet Bongo and love him, if I know my Walt Disney. I talked with Walt, who told of buying Sinclair Lewis' Cosmopolitan story and how he intends to film Bongo's adventures after he escapes from the circus.

Bongo, you see, is a city slicker, a wolf in bear's clothing. He meets Silver Tip, a shy hillbilly bear, and falls in love. But she doesn't believe his intentions are honorable.

Not surprising that Walt was listed this year among the film folk who were given awards by Look for the highest achievements. He is called "a hard-headed dreamer who works with the intangibles and the impossible." Hal Wallis, Jennifer Jones, Betty Hutton, Michael Curtiz, Hal Wallis and Walter Pidgeon are the other Hollywood folk who received the magazine's accolade.

DAMON RUNYON can start the cameras grinding on his first 20th movie, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," any time now. The rights to the life story of Ernest Ball have been cleared and for the nice round figure of $40,000 the studio gets the privilege of using nine of Ball's most loved songs, including "My Buddy," "Dear Little Boy o' Mine," "Mother Machree" and "'Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold." Damon is having the time of his life kidding Gregory Ratoff, the maddest Russian of them all, about directing this Irish opus. "Ratoff may now be referred to as Gregory (Macushla) Ratoff—or just plain O'Gregory O'Ratoff!" "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" is, of course, the movie in which the testy Mr. Monty Woolley turns sweetie-pie.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Betty Hutton's collapse on the set of "Incendiary Blonde" has caused Paramount plenty of worry. Betty is about the hottest property they own. She is so popular with servicemen that wherever she appears they tear the place down. But Betty has been doing too much. There isn't a Bond rally or canteen performance she doesn't do when asked. I know her friends do not realize how much of a strain all this is on her while she is working. She became hysterical on the set and had to be carried off, so Para is insisting now she have a complete rest.

-I AM VERY SURE it wasn't "Pillar to Post" that 'induced David Selznick to sign 28-year-old Carl Gose. That play, backed by Warners, was one of Broadway's most dismal flops. "Pillar to Post," however, was only one of the plays in which Gose has been seen on Broadway. He appeared in "Dark Eyes," "The Eve of St. Mark" and "The Moon Is Down," any one of which gave David a pretty fair idea of what his protege can do as an actor. He'll make his debut in "Double Furlough" with Joan Fontaine and Joseph Cotten and he is a lucky boy to get a Selznick contract, for David has had few, if any, failures.

THE GREATEST COMEDY personality since Bob Hope made Hollywood history is undoubtedly Danny Kaye. When Danny first appeared on the screen, when "Up in Arms" was projected, he was a new personality, a new face, unfamiliar to the fans and there wasn't a ripple of applause. But by the time the audience became familiar with him the applause was deafening and the fans nearly tore down the theater in Inglewood. Sam Goldwyn, who took a chance putting a newcomer to the screen in this movie, even though he was well known on the stage, has a definite find in Danny Kaye, for he is going places in the movies—mark my word!

THE HAYMES BOYS (not the James Boys) are doing all right for themselves. Dick Haymes is 20th's answer to Frank Sinatra and on the Columbia lot Bob Haymes, Dick's brother, is getting his break. Bob, like Dick, is a singer who used to do his crooning with Freddy Martin's band, but he abandoned the band stand for the movie grandstand when he signed a screen contract. He made

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Lupe Velez's sister, Josephine Anderson, is in critical condition at St. John's Hospital; Richard Smart is in New York with Terry Helgerson, his piano player, trying to get a spot in a night club. Meanwhile his wife has been paging him to return home to her and their two children; Fred Sammis, editor of Photoplay, arrives today to round up some Hollywood material; Claude Rains will be in England by spring to make a movie; Paul Lucas' doctor is urging him to take a rest; Olivia De Havilland came home and left immediately for somewhere—to be near Capt. John Huston; Bob Hope and Bing Crosby will launch the Fourth War Bond drive in San Francisco. Our own Beverly Hills will start the drive today and many of our stars will be present; Gene Tierney gets back in town this week after an absence of a year while she was having her baby; Hed Lamarr has a very bad strep throat brought about by getting up too soon after the flu; Sunday was Ginger Rogers' first wedding anniversary. She spent it alone because her youthful bridegroom is doing a job somewhere for Uncle Sam; Billie Burke is off to New York to co-star with Frank Craven in Zoe Atkins' "Plans for Tomorrow." It starts February 23; congratulations to Hunt Stromberg for acquiring the services of Bernie Williams, one of the best known, best liked publicity men in town, as his new publicity head. Bernie has been at Warners 12 years and leaves only because he has a chance to be head of a department; Capt. Clark Gable gave the paying customers at the Vine Street Derby a happy moment when he walked in with Kay Williams. They had a date to lunch with Bob Cobb. Clark is so popular he is always mobbed whenever he makes an appearance. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

SmartSet Post Deb Runs Army Base Lift Truck

By BETTY ALDEN

ONE GAL with a unique job in the war effort is Barbara Ann Paine, '39-'40 debutante who has become a "chisel packing mama" at the Army Base. "Chisel" is a slang name for an industrial lift truck which is a small tractor like a dodg'em at an amusement park. Two long steel prongs on the front are used to pick up packing cases and stack them in the warehouse.

They scoot in and out around the warehouse so nimbly that workmen shout at the women drivers, "Slow that chisel down, Babe, slow that chisel down!"

Driving a chisel is quite unusual work for a debutante but Barbara Ann is having a grand time and doing a fine job. If you get up early enough any morning you can see her running past South Station to catch the Army Base bus. Her work clothes consist of a warm ski suit and heavy ski boots, but sometimes if she has a big date after work you'll see her lugging a suitcase which contains her prettiest dinner dress and perkiest hat.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Paine of Charles River sq., and a popular member of the Junior League and Vincent Club.

IT'S A BUST. Or at least that's the way the party will turn out when a noted sculptress transforms a mass of clay into a sculptured bust of a leading Bostonian before members and friends of the Women's City Club next Sunday evening.

Miss Geneva Mercer will do a portrait head of Mr. William Stanley Parker, chairman of the Planning Board of the City of Boston, whom she will meet for the first time when he arrives for the sitting. Mr. Parker's wife is a former president of the club. Miss Alice Lawton has arranged the program.

Tomorrow morning, Mrs. J. Lowell Stebbins will be chairman of hospitality when Miss Amy Sacker and Miss Muriel Cox are guests on the club's Celebrity Morning program. Miss Sacker will demonstrate how to modernize rooms and Miss Cox will discuss and illustrate the use of new colors and fabrics in spring cloths.

Mother of 2 Soldiers Enlists in Air-WACs

The latest group of 18 Air-WAC recruits from Greater Boston includes a mother of two sons serving in the Army, First Service Command officials disclosed today. She is Mrs. Bertha T. Hyland, a widow, of Commonwealth ave., Back Bay, former lieutenant in the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps.

Another former WDC officer who has enlisted in the WAC is Mrs. Fay Sherman, of Bellingham st., Chelsea. Her husband is with the air forces.

Wanted by Fleischmann!
Good Judges of Good Whiskey To Try a Great New Brand!
Wouldn't You Like to Serve a Whiskey that has the Full, Ripe Richness of the World's Finest, Most Limited Brands? If you would, now you can! Read why!
"THIS IS THE KIND OF WHISKEY I wish I had discovered eight years ago," says Ellison M. Whitney, publisher's representative "It's smooth as silk, rich—and like all fine whiskies, a grand mixer!"
• This invitation is written for the few men who are really good judges of good whiskey ... who can appreciate a whiskey that is as gloriously rich, creamy and delicious as the world's finest, most limited brands—and who do not need anything more to confirm them in their judgment.
We set out several years ago to see if we could make such a whiskey. We spared no expense: We experimented: We drew from the world's choicest reserves. We selected the finest grains, and backed them up with the world's most delicate skill.
The result is—Fleischmann's PREFERRED, one of the world's most remarkable whiskies. Velvety! Creamy! Full! Delicious! We are sorry that we can offer Fleischmann's PREFERRED only in limited amounts as all our distilling facilities are devoted 100% to the war effort. If your dealer has Fleischmann's PREFERRED, try it! You'll always be glad you did!
"IT'S LIKE VELVET!" said A. J. Bowler, photographer, after his first delicious sip of Fleischmann's Preferred. "It's what I call good 'drinking whiskey'—so smooth, so easy on your tongue you can sip it down straight! I never tasted a finer, richer whiskey!"
"IT'S A GREAT WHISKEY!" is the opinion of Theodore Shepard, New York securities broker. "Smooth, delicious! It's not only amazingly mellow when you drink it 'straight'—but perfect for cocktails, too!"
FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED BLENDED WHISKEY
FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED Blended Whiskey. The straight whiskies in this product are 4 years or more old; 35% straight whiskies, 65% neutral spirits distilled from grain. 90 Proof.

Peace

but was labelled plainly as from special Balkan sources.

The newspaper itself labelled the story as among "rumors."

2—The mere fact of publication of the story was of considerable importance at a time when the United Nations appeared to have been indissolubly joined after the Moscow and Teheran conferences.

ANSWER POLES

While Pravda's back page carried the Cairo story of separate peace negotiations, the front page displayed the Polish government statement, asking the United States and Great Britain to arrange Soviet-Polish negotiations, and the Soviet reply that negotiations with the present Polish government were impossible.

The Soviet answer to the Poles contained three points:

1—The Polish statement constituted a rejection of the "Curzon line."

2—The Polish offer of negotiations was calculated to cause confusion since the Soviet Union already has broken relations with the Polish government.

3—These circumstances showed again that the exiled Polish administration is unwilling to have friendly relations with the Soviet Union.

The State Atrocies Commission also announced it is concluding an investigation into the killing of Polish prisoners in Katyn forest near Smolensk which caused the break in Soviet-Polish relations.

ATROCITIES PROBED

The Soviet reply to the Poles recalled that diplomatic relations were severed because the Polish government in London was alleged by Moscow to have taken an "active part in a hostile anti-Soviet campaign of calumny by the German occupants about the killings at Katyn."

The immediate cause of the break was the Polish government's request to the International Red Cross to investigate the German charges that thousands of Polish officers were killed in Katyn forest by the Russians.

The Soviet atrocities commission said it soon would publish a statement on the results of its investigation.

The announcement said a special commission had been formed to "determine the conditions of the shooting by German Fascist invaders of Polish officer war prisoner."

The commission is the most impressive of any which have conducted several such inquiries. It is headed by N. N. Burdenko, member of the Academy of Sciences and nicludes Alexei Tolstoy, author, Metropolitan Nikolai of Kiev of the Russian Orthodox Church, Lieut.-Gen. A. S. Gundorov, S. A. Kolesnikov, chairman of the Soviet Red Cross, V. N. Potemkin, commissar of education, Col.-Gen. E. I. Smirnov, chief of the Red Army medical administration, and R. E. Milnikov, chairman of the Smolensk Soviet.

Executed Spy's Uncle Faces Second Trial

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (INS)—The treason trial of Walter Froehling, uncle of the executed Nazi spy, Herbert Haupt, was to begin in Federal Judge John P. Barnes' courtroom today.

The trial, his second on charges of aiding young Haupt, was ordered following action of a higher court in reversing his previous conviction when he and five other defendants were tried.

Douglas Fairbanks Awarded Silver Star

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (INS)—Lieut-Comdr. Douglas Fairbanks has been awarded the Silver Star medal for outstanding service during the American landing at Salerno, Italy.

The Navy Department in making the announcement said the award was made by Vice Adm. Henry K. Hewitt, commander of U. S. naval forces in North African waters.

The January drive for waste paper and scrap tin got under way in Boston today with collections scheduled in East Boston, Charlestown, the North, South and West Ends, and the two Back Bay wards.

Because of the increased importance of paper and tin to the war effort, George G. Hyland, Boston salvage committee director, renewed his appeal to householders to have their materials on their sidewalks by 10 a. m., on collection days.

Collections after today: Tuesday, two South Boston wards and Wards 8, 9, 10 in Roxbury; Wednesday, Wards 11 to 14; Thursday, Wards 15 to 18, and Friday, Wards 19 to 22.

When He Comes Back

by Carole Landis

I AM a woman waiting for the day he comes back. There are millions like me. We buy a hat . . . and wonder how he'll like it. We cook something he loves for dinner and sit alone eating it with a throat so tight we can hardly swallow. We have friends in and as we bid them good-bye at the door, we miss his strong arm around our shoulders.

For him . . . to bring him back . . . we buy bonds, do a war job. But one of the biggest jobs we can possibly do to bring him back a lot of us are falling down on! The government urgently needs our used cooking fats with which to make gunpowder, shells, bullets, life-saving sulfa drugs and vaccines. So urgently that for every pound of used fat you turn in to your meat dealer he has been authorized by the government to give you 4¢ and two free meat ration points.

Start saving every drop of fat; there's never too little to save. And no fat has been used too much or is too black. Save your fats in any sort of tin can, not glass, and rush them to your meat dealer promptly! Start doing it today, won't you?

Liquid Air Rocket Top Nazi War Secret

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 17 (AP)—The secret weapon about which German propagandists have been boasting recently was described by the Swedish press today as a "liquid air" rocket bomb of great destructive power which can be employed against targets 70 miles away.

The paper Stockholms Tidningen said neutral military experts had received information the new weapon was being readied for final tests and probably would be tried out on the Russian front before being used against Great Britain.

The paper said it was understood the bomb was propelled to a height of more than 30 miles by rocket power—although some experts were represented as skeptical on this score—and then was designed to glide to its ultimate target.

Preliminary tests were reported to have been made in Austria and an eye-witness of the explosive effects of the bomb was quoted as saying:

"It was as if bushes, trees and everything had been smashed to atoms by the blast. A strange-looking orange and blue flame hangs in the air for minutes afterward."

The rocket bomb was said to have three chambers—one loaded with 1000 pounds of "liquid air," the second with 500 to 700 pounds of explosives to drive the rocket and the third with a quicksilver (mercury) detonating fuse set off by a radioactive salt solution.

German Rocket Glider Described in Britain

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—An airplane recognition magazine published tentative details today of a radio-controlled rocket-powered glider bomb which the Germans were said to have employed in several attacks on shipping in the Atlantic and Mediterranean recently without notable results.

The bomb, known by the Germans as the "Henschel-293," was said to be six to 10 feet long with a wingspan of 10 to 15 feet; weighs about 2500 pounds and has a maximum speed of 300 miles

The silhouette of the bomb looks like a squat fighter plane and the rocket propulsion element looks like a little bomb slung underneath. The whole contrivance is carried under a regular plane —usually a Dornier-217 or Heinkel 177 — and is controlled from it.

Nazis Place Guns In Vichy Streets

GENEVA, Jan. 17 (INS)—Vichy and surroundings of the puppet French capital have been completely occupied by the Germans, who have posted machine guns at all street corners, the Journal de Geneve reported today, quoting a Vichy dispatch.

For there is an immense amount of U. S. motor equipment wooshing around this training area.

The jeep, like something alive, bounced over the crown of a bald hill where black-faced sheep and moor ponies hauled miniature loads of fertilizer. Yonder, against the backslope of a pine forest lay——town, a hamlet of houses set in a herringbone pattern. You knew it was an army center because (1) there were plumes of smoke rising from chimney pots (civilians get no allotment of coal) and (2) every town is practically commandeered.

We hauled into a grassy courtyard which was flanked by granite of the quadrangle in a boy's school, but actually a peacetime British barracks. For the War Office has lease-lent its accommodations to the Americans—weather tight buildings which range in appearance from the Harvard Yard to the Charles Street Jail.

The post adjutant was ready with his New England detail—lads pleased to exchange a few hours of duty for an interlude of leisurely conversation. The "club meeting" was held in the orderly room and its charter members registered as follows:

Pfc. Roger T. Shea of 84 Russell st., Malden, whose windburned complexion belied the fact that he'd taught English a scant 16 months ago at the Lincoln Junior High School.

Pvt. Paul R. Coen of 74 Taylor st., Waltham, an ex-tool maker for the Waltham Screw Co., who still goes dreamy about the Waldorf Cafe society on Moody st.

Pvt. James F. Reardon of 113 Fifth st., East Cambridge, an ex-moulder for Ashton Valve, whose favorite memory is the games he used to play with the "Bulldogs" basketball team.

Corp. Carmine Atre of 76 Winter st., Cambridge, a chunky youth who is serving his fifth year in the Army and came to this clammy climate from the tropics.

Pvt. Elbert J. Martin, of 66 Juniper st., Lawrence, who is cultivating a sandpaper mustache, and showed me a picture of his five-year-old boy, Jackie.

Pvt. Joe J. Maloney, of 72 Newpark st., Lynn, just off the "moors" with a two-day growth of red beard, and asked did I know where Hummel's Drug store is. ("Those were the days.")

Pfc. Lawrence W. Liberty of 878 Washington st., Lynn, none of whose 196 pounds have wasted away on Army grub, and who said his post war plans were to spend his summer in a bathing suit on the neighboring beach.

Pvt. John R. Gray, a wiry built youth who was one of Tom Whelan's boys at Lynn English.

Pfc. Lee A. Laverdure of 100 Washington st., Clinton, who has come down 10 pounds since he managed Shatraw's Meat Market, and had the pick of his best Sunday roasts. ("You gotta be able to take it here.")

Corp. Walter F. Ingalls of 345 Pearl st., Reading, who yearns to lookin on the gang at Torrey's.

Sergt. Robert J. Horan of 61 Mulberry st., Pawtucket, who cost-accounted for the Wire and Cable Co., and said "Hello" to his wife Rita.

1st Lieut. Raymond D. McDonough of 212 Mechanics st., Marlboro, who talked of evenings spent at "The Monument" before his pals, Stan Jerrick and Jack Harper, went off to Guadalcanal.

Corp. Alexander J. Miele of 331 High st., Lawrence, who is among the occasional U. S. soldiers who are choosing wedlock in this tight little isle. He married Miss Geraldine I. Seruse here only 11 days ago.

Pfc. Joe D. Collins of 57 Broadway, Lawrence, who said to tell Fr. Powers of St. Monica's that he was still taking life seriously.

Pfc. Joe Preti of Middleboro, an ex-pipe fitter for Borosri Co.

Pvt. Lawrence E. Green of 291 Chestnut st., Lynn. ("What's Bill Joyce doing?")

Pvt. John J. McTigue of 611 Washington Elms, Cambridge, who mixed soap for Lever Brothers.

Don't get the idea that the boys would miss any boats home. Home is their consuming wish. Yet I'll bet cash to cookies that if a poll were taken now the great majority of these kids would vote down any referendum to call it quits without a German Kay-Oh.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Tain't no wonder me frens is callin' me "Izzy Ziegy," or the long of it, Izzy "Ziegfeld" Ort! Yessir, yers trooly lays claim to bein' one of da best of da country's current talent-snatchers, builder-up-ers, or wot ever U call dose guys witch are famous fer spottin' good entertainment talent when it's on the way up. Fer instance, the same Snakehips Davis who ran fer a good many konsekutive weeks here at me Essex Street Whoopee Parlor is now draggin' down two and a half centuries per week as "Tables" Davis in Billy Rose's famous Horseshoe Bar in New York. Dat swell dance team, Maria and Lopez, are now in Hollywood. Billy Nightingale, who yoo all loved in me El Tropico Room, is now makin' pictures wid Louis Armstrong. Claude Turner is now wid Billy Rose's Horseshoe Bar. Allen Dodd is now wid da Three Heat Waves, recently moved from Boston's Latin Quarter to a successful New York run . . . So I ask you, wot did Ziegfeld have dat I haven't got? (Well, a million bucks fer one thing.) Anyhoo, the strain has got me down, and Tuesday I'm takin' a three day leave fer the Pratt Institute to go under observation. Don't worry folks, nuthin' wrong dat yoo cudn't already see (!!!) . . . Come in and see da famous Dixie Faye today in me beautiful El Tropico Room. Yoo'll laff yer head off. Ort's Grille and El Tropico Room, 25 Essex Street, downtown. Advt.

OPERA HOUSE— "TROPICAL REVUE," with Katherine Dunham, is billed as a "musical heat wave." Besides the brilliant young dancer whose savage and symbolic dances astounded New York, the cast has an impressive array of colored musicians, dancers and singers, including the Original Dixieland Jazz Band and Bobby Capo, "the Bing Crosby of South America."

Continuing

SHUBERT—"MEXICAN HAYRIDE," Michael Todd's stunning musical extravaganza, with Bobby Clark, June Havoc, George Givot, Wilbur Evans, Corinna Mura heading a cast of more than 180. It has Cole Porter music, Hassard Short singing, and magnificent settings and costumes. It is entering its final week tonight.

WILBUR — "THE CHERRY ORCHARD," Chekhov's great comedy splendidly presented by Caryl Wharton and Margaret Webster, with Eva Le Gallienne and Joseph Schildkraut heading the cast, which includes Katherine Emery, Carl Benton Reid, Stefan Schnabel, Eduard Franz, Rex O'Malley, Leona Roberts, Lois Hall, Elizabeth Eustis, A. G. Andrews and Stanley Phillips. This is its final week.

PLYMOUTH — "PEEPSHOW," Ernest Pascal's intriguing comedy about a philanderer and his conscience; John Emery is the susceptible hero, David Wayne his nagging conscience, Tamara Geva the lovely lady with whom he overcomes his scruples, Mary Howard his pretty fiancee, and Dwight Weist the deceived husband. It also departs Saturday.

January 24

SHUBERT — "ROSALINDA," the Johann Strauss operetta revival, after two successful seasons on Broadway. The Boston company will be exactly the same as that now in New York. Erich Wolfgang Korngold has made the musical arrangements and Felix Brentano staged the production.

WILBUR — "DECISION," by Edward Chodorov, author of "Kind Lady" and the screen version of "Lady in the Dark." The story concerns an American soldier returning home from the African campaign and it will be enacted by Thomas W. Ross, Gwen Anderson, Merle Madden, Kim Spalding and others.

PLYMOUTH—"THE HOUSE IN PARIS," a new play by E. Mawby Green and Edward Allen Feilbert, from Elizabeth Bowen's novel. It brings to Boston Ludmilla Pitoeff, foremost actress of France in pre-Nazi days. The cast includes young Alistair Kyle, Youl Bryner, Barbara Kent, Pauline Robinson, Nicholas Saunders, Barbara Brooke and others.

January 31

PLYMOUTH — "JACOBOWSKY AND THE COLONEL," with Annabella as its star, will be presented by the Theater Guild in association with Jack Skirball.

'Give-It-Away' M'Lean Cuts Fortune by $236

KENTVILLE, N. S., Jan. 17 (AP)—Harry F. McLean, millionaire contractor from Merrickville, Ont., noted for his spur-of-the-moment philanthropies, passed out $236 in tips to hotel employes here.

He probably would have spent more but it was Sunday and he could cash checks for only $275. The most fortunate employe was Ruby Costello, 20-year-old bellhop from Charlottetown, who got $96.

Cream Revives the Skin

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

HAVE COURAGE to look into your mirror and face yourself frankly . . . No greater mistake could ever be made by any woman than to take her skin for granted . . . to flaunt her face to a "come what may" attitude . . . and, trust to luck that Mother Nature will be kind and gentle.

If you skip over those first little wrinkles . . . thinking that a good night's sleep will banish them . . . if you fail to recognize the beginnings of those devastating lines around your eyes and mouth . . . if you ignore the weavings of crepiness in a throat that should be of swan-like smoothness . . . Lady! You're not being fair with yourself.

New England women . . . unique in themselves . . . must cater to their skins like no other women anywhere in the country. Because we women are New England weather "victims" . . . about ninety per cent of us suffer from dry skins . . . we must doubly flatter our face.

FOR THAT INNER DRYNESS

All skins can be beautifully clear because of proper cleansing . . . All skins can be velvety smooth and radiant because of proper lubrication . . . All skins can be firm in texture because of proper stimulation and elimination . . . You may not be able to change the features of your face . . . but you CAN make your skin beautiful.

It is not generally known . . . but there are two kinds of skin dryness . . . an outer and inner dryness. It is for this inner dryness . . . so menacing to outward beauty . . . that this special cream . . . which I dote on . . . is so beneficial and effective.

Product of a famous dermatologist . . . whose rare creams and toiletries, scientifically designed for thin, dry, sensitive skins . . . have been used for close to half a century by the aristocracy of England and the Continent . . . this cream is one of the creator's greatest achievements.

THEN A ROSE-LIKE BLUSH

The cream is prepared to help smooth out fine lines around the eyes . . . on the forehead . . . and especially for throat crepiness . . . Only the rarest oils that have proved to be most advantageous to the skin are used in this cream of all creams for dryness. It is because New England women are facially distressed from an inner dryness which reflects itself in the outer skin . . . that they need a deep, penetrating, special cream to do more than superficially soften it. Their skin needs a cream soaking.

This special cream is NOT massaged into the skin . . . the creator frowns on massage . . . and insists that it only be PRESSED into the skin . . . to permit the inner layer to absorb the full benefits of the rich ingredients. After you press it into your skin . . . letting it remain for about 15 or 20 minutes . . . you'll find it has been completely sucked in by the pores. Your face and your throat will love it. A brisk patting . . . and a rose-like blush will come to your cheeks.

This special cream has nothing to do with the cream you need for the outside skin . . . for cleansing it of its crust of dirst and grime . . . or the night cream which considerably aids the outer skin.

If your skin is dry and sensitive and thin . . . and your age doesn't figure in the texture of your skin . . . then you need this hand-made, hand-whipped, hand-packed special cream. Two and three generations of discriminating women . . . in many fine old American families . . . have used this cream . . . and wouldn't be without it.

For the name of this skin-reviving cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BRIGHT AND SHINING . . . is the vital beauty of Cover Girl Dusty Anderson . . . one of the nation's loveliset . . . whose complexion radiates eternal youth. She has a luminous beauty that captures the eye in ecstatic praise. A Cover Girl must care for her beauty for her career . . . for her face is her fortune . . . and she must guard her lovely skin with protective creams to retain that everlasting "peaches and cream" look.

Love When Wife Is Older

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I've just finished reading your article on older men always seeking young brides. I'd like to know your reaction to men marrying older women. Is this unusual or not? I know it has been done. I'm in love with a young man of 23 and I'm 30. He's in the service and we've been corresponding. He said it doesn't make any difference to him how old I am.

I feel as if he's too young to decide whom he really loves and that later on he might regret not marrying someone nearer his age. Can you tell me any cases in history where the girl was several years older than her husband, and if such marriages were happy? I need your advice very much.

C. B. V.

It would depend entirely on the type of mind the older woman has whether such a marriage would or would not be successful. There are such types as old-young people, and vice-versa. If men and women, with a disparity of years, have congenial tastes, kindred interests, something to fall back on when the kissing grows less, the marriage of an older woman to a younger man is not too much of a risk.

History is full of such marriages which have been preeminently successful. Disraeli's wife was years older than he.

Martin Pattern

A smart suit for spring and an adorable sun-frock to wear when the sun begins to take itself seriously! Pattern 9059 affords both . . . in one pattern! The little bodice top makes the suit so comfy on a tiny figure. Sun-frock, a winner.

Pattern 9059 comes in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, jacket and skirt, takes 1⅞ yards 35-inch; bodice-top, ⅞ yard contrast; sun-frock 1¼ yards.

This pattern, together with a transfer pattern of decorative embroidery motifs that you can use on linens or frocks, 20 cents.

Send 20 cents in coins for these patterns. Write plainly size, name, address, style number.

Send 10 cents extra for new Marian Martin Pattern Book. Complete style selection for all ages. Free pattern printed right in book.

Fashion

BLACK MAGIC . . . are these black velvet lounging pajamas with suspender top . . . worn so effectively by RKO Star Ginger Rogers. The peasant touch in the pink embroidered motif on the wide suspenders and cross bar add a charming note to the pink crepe blouse . . . with full long sleeves ruffled at the neck and cuffs. A black velvet hair bow . . . and black satin mules . . . give a rakish touch to this smart "at home" outfit—R. M.

Jumper Back With New Swank

By BETTINA BEDWELL

BACK in 1926 every other girl wore a two-piece dress that was called a jumper. In the spring of 1944, if the dress experts have their way, the same situation is going to be repeated. For the jumper is one of the fashions I see in most of the important wholesale collections.

And not only that, but the swanky, very exclusive custom designers have a liking for this same model, too. The top of the 1944 jumper is usually hip-length, and it is buttoned partway down in one place or another. The skirt it pairs with is usually slim and uncluttered, but easy to wear.

Just how the whole thing looks, as designed by a good custom designer, you can see in Miss Dulin's sketch. This Alice Orovan jumper is made of black and white dotted silk. It buttons under the left arm on jet buttons, is belted with black and has a red rose at the deep, scalloped neckline.

GRACIOUS HOSTESS. Be as gracious in greeting "youthful" guests in your home as you are when greeting your own guests.

Ham Hock Dinner

By MARTHA LEE

THE HIGH FLAVOR of a low-point meat features a "boiled" dinner prepared with ham hocks. A boiled dinner depends upon the flavor of the meat for its seasoning, and smoked ham hocks have the flavor to do the trick. Meat satisfaction is extended a long way when all the vegetables are steeped in meat flavor.

It should be remembered that plenty of time should be allowed for a boiled dinner. The meat should be cooked at a simmering temperature, so it will be tender and moist, not stringy and dry, as will be the case if it is boiled vigorously.

For a new idea which is recommended by nutritionists, scrub but don't peel the carrots and potatoes. Valuable nutrients lie just beneath the skins and these are lost in peeling. Unpeeled they will be plump and pretty, glistening with the fat from the meat as they are served piping hot on the platter with the smoked ham hocks.

BOILED DINNER MENU

Ham Hocks
Potatoes Carrots
Cabbage Onions
Clover Leaf Rolls
Rice Pudding Coffee

HAM HOCK DINNER

2 lbs. smoked ham hocks
Water 4 onions
4 carrots 4 potatoes
1 head green cabbage

Cover ham hocks with water. Simmer gently for 2 hours. One-half hour before meat is done remove ham hock skins, add unpeeled potatoes, unscraped carrots, and onions. Fifteen minutes later add cabbage head, cut in four wedges. Cook until meat is tender and vegetables are done. Arrange ham hocks and vegetables on platter. Sprinkle onions with paprika. Save broth for soup stock. Makes 4 servings.

CLOVER LEAF ROLLS

1 cup milk 5 tbsp. sugar
1 tbsp. salt 1 cake yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
6 cups sifted flour
6 tbsp. melted shortening

Scald milk, add sugar and salt; cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water and add to lukewarm milk. Add 3 cups flour and beat until perfectly smooth. Add melted shortening and remaining flour, or enough to make easily handled dough. Knead well. Place in greased bowl. Cover and set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. When dough is light, divide into small balls. Brush sides with melted butter or margarine and place 3 balls in each section of a greased muffin pan. Cover and set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in hot oven at 425 deg. F. for 20 minutes. Makes 2 dozen rolls.

HAM HOCK DINNER

RICE PUDDING

2 cups milk 1 stick cinnamon
¼ cup butter or margarine
1-3 cup sugar ¼ cup raisins
4 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup cooked rice

Scald milk with cinnamon; remove cinnamon and add butter and sugar, stirring well. Add slowly to beaten eggs, mixing well; add rice and raisins. Turn into buttered baking dish and bake in slow oven (300 deg. F.) for 45 minutes, or until browned. Makes 6 servings.

Broadway

NEW YORK, Jan. 17—Arthur Hornblow and Bubbles Schinasi are experimenting with a trial separation . . . Adele Jergens, the former Gotham model, has given up the Hollywood career ghost and is coming back to New York . . . The magic drug, penicillin, is responsible for Claudia Morgan's great improvement at Lenox Hill Hospital . . . Morton Downey's radio stint has been renewed . . . Opera singer Mary McCormick is strolling around with her broken arm in a sling . . . Laird Cregar, the cinema threat, and Lee Brody, the singer, are flirty-flirting . . . Rita Law (Tony Canzoneri's wife), and Peggy Hopkins Joyce argued in the powder room of one of the swankier saloons a couple of evenings ago . . . Sophie and Bert Tucker say there hasn't been any estrangement . . . Kay Thompson is all well after that operation . . . The secretary of a prominent comedy team is being watched by the FBI. He's suspected of Black Market operations on the side . . . Moss Hart wired his "Winged Victory" cast the other day from California: "Absence makes Moss Hart grow fonder."

IS THAT John Boles who rides the Queens Plaza subway every night after the theater, bundled to the ears in a huge overcoat and hiding his peepers behind colored glasses? . . . Announcer Del Sharbutt, father of three children, is 1A . . . The gorgeous blonde with Vic Mizzy was his bride, Mary Small; the gorgeous blonde with Bob Mizzy is still a mystery. Ah, names, names!

WHY DID Lois Andrews sell her Palm Springs and Beverly Hills houses? . . . Isn't Richard Knight about to turn up in the daffydill columns again? . . . Do you know that the flu epidemic reduced the taxi fleet in New York to one-tenth of its pre-war size during the past three weeks, which is why Gothamites have been waving and whistling for one in vain? . . . Is Ricardo Cortez coming back to Broadway to do a play? . . . Do you know that the bell which tinkles as you enter "21" is one Maggi McNellis contributed to the scrap drive there—but which somebody hung over the door?

DO YOU KNOW that Sylvia Sidney and Luther Adler reconciled for two days, then split again because of clashing temperaments? . . . Have you heard about the nine-year-old son of the Mayor of Pelham, N. Y., who's been discovered by movie talent scouts because he's such a terrific harmonica player? . . . Did Margaret Hayes leave for the Coast suddenly to douse a torch?

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17—A Believe It Or Not Ripley yarn is the tale of Arthur Ripley. He had been a Mack Sennett gag writer, did various writing jobs in the industry, and then one day decided he would like to direct a play. He staged the local production of "Oscar Wilde," which was an excellent job and established Laird Cregar as an actor. Ripley, however, didn't get anywhere. Then he decided he would like to direct a picture. He went to PRC, an independent outfit, and sold them on the idea of letting him write and produce a picture. He turned out a picture, "Voice in the Wind," his initial effort, in two weeks, and the entire picture cost as much as a couple of big sets cost in a Metro production. "Voice in the Wind," a quickie, is so good that United Artists bought it from PRC, is going to release it under their banner and give it a Broadway presentation. Arthur Ripley, a Hollywood Believe It Or Not, is now a United Artists producer and will soon get the raise due him.

Anne Shirley

Gregory Ratoff, talking to a writer, said, "The trouble with you is that you never think of your short comings, all you ever think of is your long comings." But don't get me wrong. I love Hollywood.

* * *

ERIK CHARELL is staying at the Waldorf-Astoria because he is to be connected with the picture, "Weekend at the Waldorf" . . . Jess Barker and Anne Shirley are getting to be a steady thing . . . Ann Harding bought a ranch far from Hollywood to get away from the crowds. Now Camp Pendleton is established practically in her back yard. The other day on the set of "Nine Girls," Jinx Falkenburg was telling Ann Harding about various camp shows she has been doing. "That's nothing," said Ann, "every time I raise a curtain in my house I give a camp show" . . . Ensign John Howard is writing his "V" mail to Sally Yarnell . . . Kurt Siodmak, the writer, was talking to Robert Siodmak, the director, about the difference in adjectives in Hollywood and New York. "For instance, Robert," said Kurt, "Two 'terrifics' in Hollywood will get you one 'adequate' in New York" . . . Marlene Dietrich in "Kismet" is called the "Queen of the Bagdad Dancing Girls" instead of "Queen of the Harem," because the word harem is barred by the censors.

WAR NOTES: Gary Cooper telling friends at a party that when he arrived at a certain Army camp in New Guinea he was surprised to find Gen. Marshall on the stage there. Gen. Marshall said to Cooper, "While we've been waiting for you I've been up here on the platform entertaining the soldiers. I think I should have billing" . . . Albert Hackett and Frances Goodrich are writing the "Know Your Enemy—Japan" war film for Col Frank Capra . . . Lieut. David Miller will confer with Gen. MacArthur in Australia about an Army war film . . . The Government has opened a liquor store in Los Angeles where liquor is sold only to soldiers at OPA prices. The soldiers call this store "The Bottle Front" . . . Frances Edwards' cafe near Metro studio has this sign: "Through This Door Pass the Nicest People In the World—Our Customers."

* * *

THERE HAS been appearing in newspapers throughout the country an advertisement stating that for two hours of solid comedy on Tuesday nights to tune in on Burns and Allen, Fibber McGee and Molly, Bob Hope and Red Skelton. Nothing else is mentioned, not even the name of the sponsor or product. There has been much mystery as to who picked this advertisement and who is paying for it. NBC would like to know why this advertisement links Columbia's Burns and Allen with their big Tuesday night shows. The advertisement was written and paid for by Burns and Allen.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: The sound-mixing man has been ordered to increase the volume when Frank Sinatra is doing his crooning . . . The Voice itself is letting the high notes ring out a bit more forcefully, as well . . . In fact, Frankie's most recent network appearance indicated that he and his mentors have decided to take the accent off his vocal anemia . . . Of course, The Voice's squealing little idolators may protest, and if Frankie gets back to normal, i. e., to one long vocal sigh, the public will know that the protest has been sounded and the experiment to put some hair on The Voice's chest is cancelled.

IT IS A DARING experiment, at that, coming when the Jersey youth is at the peak of his popularity . . . And it may reduce the number of Franki's plaintive imitators who have been awkwardly trying to let their microphones support them in standing positions, and who have changed their tenor or basso organs into murmuring reeds of melody.

TWO DAYS REMAIN only of the Boston Arena engagement of the 20th Annual N. E. Sportsmen's Show . . . The lavish variety show arranged by Sheldon Fairbanks is reminiscent of the good old days, although even when the Palace in New York was the mecca of all "puh-formers," there was not a show of such proportions as the Boston sportsman, Mr. Fairbanks, has given his fellow-citizens.

THE NAME of Col. Sol Rosenblatt will be sent to the Senate for confirmation as a brigadier-general . . . The New York lawyer, who was active in radio and motion picture investigations, entered service as a captain 18 months ago . . . State Rep. John E. Powers of South Boston has been elected commodore of the famous Columbia Yacht Club which stands on the edge of the Strandway in Johnny's native Peninsula District . . . One of the youngest solons to make a name for himself on Beacon Hill, Johnny now adds to his laurels by being the youngest commodore in the 60-year-old history of the Columbia Yacht Club . . . His townsman, City Councilor John E. Kerrigan, looms as a sure candidate for mayor in the next running, incidentally . . . Councilor Kerrigan's election for the second time as president of the City Council was an unusual tribute . . . The competition for this chairmanship is always a tough tussle . . . John won it on the first ballot.

THE MAYFAIR'S new show is a delight, from start to finish . . . It presents the unique sight of Columbus and Carroll, one of the best dance teams in the business, of opening a show . . . For that matter, any of the three acts on the current bill could have been awarded the headline spot which Paddy Cliff holds so entertainingly . . . Charles Columbus has been pleasing night club and revue audiences since the days of Irving Berlin's famous Music Box Revues . . . Dorothy Dilley and Florence O'Denishawn, both lovely dancers, have been among his partners . . . In Miss Catherine Carroll, the handsome, manly dancer has a partner of exquisite grace and charm . . . They dance beautifully, and the show catches some of their infectious good nature immediately . . . (And it helps all along the line.)

MR. CLIFF'S VOICE is powerful, but like all top vocalists, the stalwart Mr. Cliff (who resembles a Paul Bowser wrestler) has rhythm . . . He swings the classics, and makes a performing classic of his rendition of "Night and Day" . . . The other act on the bill is a sensational piece of business in which George Fitzimmons Burton sends a dozen or more love birds through some extraordinary paces . . . The Mayfair's chorus, the Pollmar Girls, maintains its ranking with the best-drilled and most attractive small units in the business . . . We can't remember enjoying an hour of night club show as much as we enjoyed the Mayfair's.

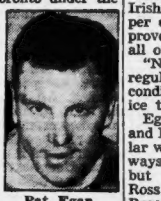
Bruins-Leafs Feud Has Hockey Fans On Fire

By JACK CONWAY

HOCKEY WILL soar to a new high in the matter of public interest at the Garden tomorrow night when the Bruins battle the Toronto Maple Leafs. An idea of the way the fans feel towards the Maple Leafs since Bill Cowley suffered his shoulder injury at Toronto was gained when it was announced that Detroit had defeated the Leafs. The 11,800 persons in the Garden let out a wild whoop of jubilation.

Unfortunately Cowley will not be in tomorrow night's lineup. Bill is still in Toronto under the care of a doctor. Jack Crawford will also be unable to play.



Pat Egan

Despite the absence of Cowley and Crawford from the lineup, the Bruins will be given an even chance to win. What the club may lack in strength due to the enforced absence of Cowley and Crawford it will make up for in spirit. The Rossmen will show more fire than ever before. They will be in there to win for Cowley and get revenge for the rough deal they feel he was handed at Toronto.

The rush for tickets for the game proves the fans like a feud better than anything else. Under such conditions they believe they will get intense action. They will be willing to sacrifice the superior finish the Bruins would have with Cowley and Crawford in the lineup to see their teammates go out for a bundle of revenge.

It looks as if the Garden will be jammed to capacity when the rival clubs sweep into action.

Egan Explosive Player

I DEVOTED particular attention to watching Pat Egan as he played his first game for the Bruins against the Rangers. Pat was credited with one assist, while he was in the midst of numerous other plays.

Egan, 25 years of age, is an explosive player. He tried to take a page from Eddie Shore's book when on the defense, while he showed plenty of dash in his rushes down the ice.

Pat still needs plenty of hockey to get him into the best possible condition. He didn't play enough with Detroit to keep on edge.

"I am glad to be in Boston which I understand is a red hot Irish town," said Pat. "I am 100 per cent Irish and I shall try to prove that the Celts still possess all of their old fighting spirit.

"Now that I shall be playing regularly, I shall get into fine condition. I won't give an inch of ice to an opponent."

Egan has a strong personality and I look for him to be very popular with the fans. He is still a long ways from being an Eddie Shore, but under the coaching of Art Ross he should improve in his play. Ross does not make any secret of the fact that he intends to build Pat as the firebrand of hockey.

Adams Back in Town

CHARLES F. ADAMS is back in town. He watched the Bruins win from the Rangers from the press box. Incidentally, it was the first time Adams ever was in the press box at the Garden.

"I came in from Miami by plane," said Adams. "I had intended to fly to Lexington, Ky., to look over the yearlings owned by my son, Weston. I lost my plane reservation at the last minute to someone who had a priority, and was then able to get a seat on the plane to Boston.

"I liked the way the Bruins played against the Rangers. Egan will help the Bruins a great deal. I understand there is great interest in the clash between the Bruins and Maple Leafs on account of the fact Bill Cowley was injured in a game in Toronto.

"I am glad I am back in Boston to see the contest. I shall attend to some business here, and later in the week I plan to go to Lexington."

Adams said that while he was in Florida he talked with Joe Kennedy, former ambassador to England who now owns a big block of stock in Hialeah Park. He also had meetings with Racing Secretary Charley McLennan of Suffolk Downs and Herman Conkling, one of his stewards, who are in Miami.

Bruins Gain on Leafs Despite Loss in N. Y.

By BILL GRIMES

Over the week-end, the Bruins picked up a full game on the Toronto Maple Leafs, whom they meet tomorrow night at the Garden, but they were not able to get better than an even break with the New York Rangers.

After hanging a 7 to 5 defeat on the Blue Shirts from the Big City here Saturday, the Rossmen practically fell apart last night in New York and when the festivities were over, the Rangers were awarded an 8 to 6 verdict.

The Bruins were spotty last night. They had a 2 to 0 lead at one time and again were two goals up on the Patrickmen. But, when the teams squared away to start the final period, the count was four all. And, then, Rangers beat Bert Gardiner for four more goals, while Ken McAuley held the Bruins to a pair of markers.

WINGS MOVE UP

The Detroit Red Wings, holders of the Stanley Cup, are moving up at an alarming rate. They took both ends of a home and home series with the Maple Leafs over the week-end and have now won four and tied one game in their last five starts.

Connie Dion, who was the sub goalie for the Cornwall, Ont. army club last season and recently discharged from the Canadian service, who is the fourth goalie that Jack Adams has used this season, has three wins and no defeats to his credit, while Bill "Flash" Hollett, Detroit's latest acquisition, has sparked the Red Wings to three victories.

The Bruins are trailing Toronto by a full game and only three points up on the Red Wings, who have a game in hand on the Rossmen.

Herbie Cain chalked up his 50th point of the season last night when he was credited with one assist. Cain has contributed 28 goals and 22 assists to the Bruins' cause.

The Rossmen will return home late this afternoon. They will take on the Maple Leafs tomorrow night and after dropping two in a row to Detroit the Daymen will be in a fighting mood.

FANS IRKED

Realizing that the Ranger outfit is one of the weakest clubs in pro hockey, the fans are not taking last night's defeat well. They are at a loss to understand how such an aggregation could possibly score 13 goals in two nights on the Rossmen.

Of course, the cash customers appreciate that Bill Cowley and Jack Crawford are hospitalized and that three lines are a hodgepodge of puck chasers. But, even so, they cannot excuse the Rossmen for contributing two of the five wins Rangers have turned in this season.

After what the Red Wings did to Toronto Saturday and last night and what happened in New York, the Bruins had better pay strict attention to hockey tomorrow night, instead of trying to even up grudges they imagine they have against the Maple Leafs.

Bill Klem Sees '44 Boom Season

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 17 (AP)—Baseball's veteran Bill Klem, head man of the National League umpires, talked like a circus press agent today in predicting the majors would have a great season in 1944.

"It will be a spectacular show," he declared. "A thrilling competition. Even if all the stars were missing, it would still be something to watch. The old players will coem back, and the young ones will move up, and the fans will have plenty to shout about.

"Don't worry about baseball. It will be all right."

Klem said he had no patience with those who moan over the loss of name playcrs to the armed services.

"It's a tradition in baseball to carry on, and last year proved it to everybody's satisfaction," he asserted. "Remember how the so-called 'has-beens' did the impossible in the World Series? They will do it again this year."

Tippy Larkin Ready For Jannazzo Bout

By RINGSIDE

Tippy Larkin will not have to do much work to put him on edge for his 10-round bout with Izzy Jannazzo which will be held at Mechanics Building, Friday night, under the direction of Eddie Mack-Jack O'Brien of the Callahan A. C.

Other than for a damaged optic, which is expected to respond to treatment quickly, Larkin came out of his 10-round bout with Bobby Ruffin in the New York Garden without any serious marks.

Larkin is riding high on the fistic wave as a result of his showing against Ruffin. Tippy overcame the jinx that had previously followed him in the New York Garden and furnished a brilliant exhibition of boxing and clean, sharp punching.

WON OVER ZANELLI

Jannazzo defeated Ralph Zanelli at Providence and dropped a split decision to the Johnny Buckley-Phil Buccola thumper at the Garden. He's a veteran of the ring wars and will give Larkin plenty of trouble.

Henry Chmielewski will receive a guarantee of $1750 and a privilege of 25 per cent of the gate receipts when he clashes with Coley Welsh in a 10-round bout for the Callahan A. C. at the Garden Feb. 4. Chimmy has scored recent wins over Henry Horne and Jackie Caparell and is one of the hottest cards in the middleweight division.

Mack tried to sign Jack LaMotta, conquerer of Fritzie Zivic, for a meeting with Chimmy. LaMotta has matches that will keep him busy for six weeks, and he will be unable to come to Boston before spring.

Hand in Sling, Zivic Takes Draft Exam

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17 (AP)—With his left hand in a sling as a result of his losing battle Friday night with Jake LaMotta at Detroit, 30-year-old Fritzie Zivic, former welterweight champion, reported to his draft board today for his final physical examination.

Physicians said Zivic suffered a clean break of the third metacarpal joint of his left hand and, they added, there were indications that the bone had been partially broken prior to the LaMotta bout. His hand was swollen after his bout here last week with Ossie Harris but he ignored the injury.

'All' Grid Team Banquet Set

The Boston Evening American-Daily Record banquet to the Board of Coaches official All Scholastic football team of 1943 will be next Monday night, at the Hotel Lenox—starting at 5:30 p. m. and ending in plenty of time for the out-of-town boys to make train connections for home.

Members of the team will be awarded All Scholastic sweaters and gold, engraved football charms, emblematic of tops in interscholastic grid competition in the eastern part of the state.

The James W. Brine Sporting Goods Co., Summer st., must be awarded a vote of thinks for its good contribution. Because of a scarcity of material, the announcement of the awards was forced to be delayed, but since, Louis Brine has been pushing the order through in record time so that it would be possible to hold this dinner at the earliest possible date. The sweaters will be red, white and blue—the red predominating—with an All-Scholastic emblem on the chest.

CAN BRING FRIEND

As in past years, each member of the team will again be invited to bring along a male guest. It has been the custom for the boys to bring their fathers to share in their fun but they may, if they want, bring their coaches, friend, or a fellow team-mate.

Members of the All team include Mel Massucco, Arlington, now in the Merchant Marine; Walter Sheridan, Melrose; Giles Powell, Boston English; Pete Ventola, Revere; Leo Troy, Melrose; Arthur Carlton, Everett; Sal Rizzo, Waltham; Howard Houston, Haverhill; George Florentine, Everett, now in the U. S. Marines; James Oteri, Weymouth, and Bob O'Neil, Watertown.

The coaches who picked this official team and who will be present include Bill Ohrenberger, Boston English; Ed "Skip" Sherlock, Hyde Park; Fred Ostergren, Arlington; Jim Mansfield, Haverhill; George Kenneally, Revere; Dennie Gildea, Everett; Harry Downes, Brookline; Dave Gavin, Melrose, and Bill Broderick, Salem.

An attractive program of guest speakers is now being drawn up and will be announced shortly.

Girl in Ice Derby To Make Dad Proud

Among the many letters received by the Silver Skates Derby committee, one from a 14-year-old girl, Patsie McCormick of Georgetown, deserves answer here. The reply today answers her queries and will also be informative to hundreds of youngsters who seek the same answers.

Miss Patsie McCormick,
Georgetown, Mass.

Dear Patsie:

Your letter was received and your fears that you won't be allowed to compete in the famed Silver Skates Derby at the Garden a week from Sunday are groundless.

The fact that you have no uniform or a feeling that you are just an ordinary skater shouldn't worry you in the least.

This Derby is for 14-year-old girls like yourself. You need no special uniform, you don't have to be a stand-out skater, you need no entry fee—all that is required is a pair of skates and a desire to take part in competition.

LOSERS HAVE FUN, TOO

You don't have to win, either. After all, only one boy or girl can win in each class but the others are all in there trying and having a great time. Even if you can't come out on top, you can give your best which is all your dad would want.

Your reference to your dad in the Navy and your thought that he would be proud to think his daughter had the spunk to at least try, is one of the reasons the American-Record has this Derby every year.

Your dad is giving his best so that you may enter competition like the Silver Skates and no matter where he is, I know he wants you to be free to do as you wish.

Patsie, I could go on and tell you a lot of things about the Derby. About the kids who are in it, the grand figure skaters who will thrill you as you watch them between races and the chills, spills and laughs that go with every Derby, but I won't go into that, for you will see it for yourself a week from Sunday.

There's not much more to say, Patsie, except for one word of warning. All entries must be in the mail by midnight Thursday, so make certain you clip the entry blank on Page 38, fill it out carefully and send it to me.

Sometime next week I will send you a card telling you when to report at the Garden.

Just take your skates and the same skating outfit you use while skating out on the pond after school every day and you won't feel the least bit out of place.

I'm looking forward to seeing you a week from Sunday.

Sincerely,
Silver Skates Editor.

Ted Williams Wants a Zero

Lombardi Choice For Best Hitter

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Approved by Office of Public Relations, U. S. Navy. Copyright, 1944, by Boston Sunday Advertiser-American

PENSACOLA, Fla. (delayed)—Still Christmas (long one, isn't it?) and still raining on good and evil alike in Pensacola. Lieut. and Mrs. Forrest Twogood (Toogood would be a more appropriate spelling) sound the tocsin and Naval Aviation Cadet Ted Williams among others, steps to the plate.

Delectable meal . . . turkey tender enough to break with fork . . . oodles of giblet gravy, stuffing and all the fixin's. Sauerkraut, too, something new on Christmas to this rover. Toogie did the carving in left-hand fashion, and though most southpaws give you the fidgets, the old Cleveland pitcher hurled a good game and in no time everybody was being helped to "seconds."

Then the cafe noir—ah, that cafe noir! Ambrosia!

While everybody smacked lips and rolled tongues, I took advantage of the opening by asking Ted the best hitter he saw in his four major league years.

LOMBARDI TED'S CHOICE

Ernesto Lombardi was his surprising choice. Lombardi, recall, caught 10 years for the Reds before the Braves got him in '42. Giant of a man, standing 6-2 and weighing 225. Extremely slow, however. Every time he reached first base he "filled the bases," as the saying goes. The Sox used to come North from Florida with the Reds each spring and Williams had a good chance to study Lombardi.

"As far as just swinging a bat is concerned, I'll take Lom over them all," said Williams. "No effort at all for him to hit. Just stepped up to the plate with that interlocking grip and BOOM! Over the hills and far away. Hit left-handers and right-handers alike. If he'd been able to run, he'd have hit .400 every year. (Lom never hit higher than .342 because he had to triple to reach first base.)

"Remember that day down in Durham?" Ted laughed. Who could forget it? It was April 6, 1941. Reds' batterymen had been in training since Feb. 22, and Lom had been working overtime. April 6 was his birthday, and Bill McKechnie promised him the day off. Lom decided to celebrate the night before and stepped out of bounds. McKechnie decided to punish him. "You're catching," he told him the next day.

LOM A GO-THROUGH GUY

It was a blistering afternoon. Chest protector, shinpads and mask must have felt like a suit of armor. But Lom went through like a major, though he left puddles of perspiration behind with every step.

"I hope he can see the ball," said Sox and Reds alike as Lom came to bat in the second inning. He could. Rifled it against distant left field fence. McKechnie's eyes popped. Next time up Lom homered over the right field wall, and as he waddled around the bases his uniform was as wet as Pensacola on Christmas. McKechnie gave him the rest of the afternoon off.

"How're you going to get mad at a guy like that?" laughed McKechnie later.

Spud Chandler's rise to the top spot among AL pitchers didn't surprise Williams. "The fellow always could pitch. His ball sunk. You'd take your full cut and you'd either get a hump-backed single or roll out to the second baseman. Never could get a good piece of the ball" . . . Williams admitted Ken Chase, when with Washington, gave him more trouble than any other pitcher in the league, but for the first time we heard him sing the praises of Monte Pearson.

"He really was tough to hit," said Williams. "Shot his fast one across the plate with the same easy motion he 'pulled the string.' If that fellow had his health he'd have been among the greatest. How about that two-hitter he pitched in the '38 World Series against the Cubs, two days after getting out of a sick bed? Yes sir. One of the proudest days in my life was when I hit two home runs off him. Lucky to get two in a lifetime off a pitcher with his stuff."

GOMEZ VERY FAST

And Gomez: "When he was really fast, the ball was on top of you before you realized he had delivered it. All you could see was his foot and arm. Always had his foot in your face, it seemed." . . . Yeh, Roger Woolf's knuckler bothered him. "Set me under the .400 mark day before season closed in '41," Ted recalled. "But I got six for eight against Christopher and others the next day to finish at .406."

"Say, whatever became of the young Red Walsh who worked out with us at Sarasota?" Ted asked. "I thought he was going to be a great hitter. And couldn't he throw? And where's that Sam what's his name from NYU, Tony Cuccinello's cousin? Didn't he look like a great hitter . . . So Herb Pennock's gone, eh? Too bad. A great fellow" . . . And so it went until 8 o'clock, when all hands called it a day. There was flying to be done day after Christmas, and reveille was at 5:30 . . .

Five demerits, his first in the Navy, hit Ted Williams. Tomorrow's chapter of "Teddy Wants A Zero," tells all about it in tomorrow's Boston American.

Frisch Home After Aleutian Junket

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17 (AP)—Frankie Frisch returned from his USO tour of Army camps in the Aleutian Islands, William E. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, announced after speaking to his manager by telephone.

Benswanger said Frisch, who called from his home in New Rochelle, N. Y., told him that the four other major league stars who made the junket would return in "about a week." They include Stan Musial and Danny Litwhiler of the St. Louis Cardinals, Dixie Walker of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Hank Borowy of the New York Yankees.

Hollywood Set For 1944 Racing

INGLEWOOD, Cal., Jan. 17 (INS)—Horse racing may be resumed at Hollywood Park by midsummer, it was indicated today with the announcement by North American Aviation, Inc., that the company was taking steps to vacate the race track in the near future.

The company has been using the track for a storage grounds for more than a year.

Application for racing dates probably will be filed by the park this week, according to Charles E. Cooper, member of the California horse racing board. He said the board had been holding up Bay Meadows spring racing dates in the expectation that Hollywood Park would resume operations.

A 55-day meeting was almost a certainty, he said. Final approval rests with the western defense command.

Big Crowds Visit Sports' Show

After playing to big crowds over the week-end, the 20th annual New England Sportsmen's Show runs into its final two days showing, today and tomorrow. As usual the doors will open today at 1:00 p. m. and there will be something doing continuously until 11 p. m., either on the miniature lake, on the two stages, or in and about the various exhibits.

The war conditions which forced streamlining of the Sportsmen's Show, with lesser trade exhibits but with a longer program of guides' contests, rod and gun demonstrations, trained animal acts and replete with comedy, has produced a show that has found favor with the Hub public. Sheldon Fairbanks and Albert Rau, show producers for the past 20 years, are happy at the reception given this venture.

Write Your Congressman Protesting Neglect of Discharged Veterans

Date _____

HON. _____

MEMBER OF CONGRESS,
CAPITOL BUILDING,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

I call on you to support legislation that will provide mustering out pay, clothing and hospitalization facilities for discharged service men immediately upon their return to civilian life.

I wish to register my protest against the neglect of wounded, disabled and mentally sick men of the armed forces who have been discharged without any provision for their care and treatment.

I petition you, as my representative in Congress, to do all in your power to see that those who fought and bled to preserve the American way of life will be assured the necessities of life upon their discharge from the armed forces.

This is urgent! Please act now!

Sincerely,

Name _____
